AFTER HC RAP, GOVT BANS MEKEDATU YATRA

Will abide by court order, march on till Friday's hearing: Siddu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AFTER the Karnataka High Court pulled up the state government for not initiating any action to stop the Mekedatu Padayatra, which is being taken out by Congress, the state government on Wednesday evening banned the rally with immediate effect. Congress leaders, however, maintained that they will go ahead with the Padayatra on Thursday, the fifth day of the rally that was flagged from Ramanagara on Sunday.

The order prohibited the movement of people and vehicles for the purpose of the padayatra both within and outside Ramanagara district, and warned that legal action will be taken if it is violated. The government is expected to file its response to the court on Thursday.

On Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai's directions, Chief Secretary P Ravikumar held a high-level meeting with senior officials on Wednesday evening and the ban order was issued immediately after.

Under Section 24(a)(b)(l) of the Disaster Management Act, 2005, the state government prohibited with immediate effect all inter-district (within Karnataka) and intra-district (within Ramanagara) movement of vehicles and persons for participating in "Namma Neeru Namma Hakku" padayatra or whichever name it is called with similar purpose from Mekedatu to Bengaluru. The GO will be in force till further orders and should be implemented strictly by all deputy commissioners, superintendents of police and police commissioners. P4

When it comes to water and land, in Karnataka, we have always worked together. The State Government is committed to implement the Mekedatu reservoir project by taking the confidence of opposition party and others. Covid third wave has hit the state, especially Bengaluru. Our first priority should be health at this stage. I seek your cooperation and help us in preventing the cases. Do not violate Covid norms — Basavaraj Bommai, Chief Minister

Cops to stop rally at Bidadi, Ramanagara?

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

FOLLOWING the state government issuing orders prohibiting Mekedatu padayatra, a high-level meeting of top police officials, which was held in Ramanagara late on Wednesday night, decided to stop Congress from continuing the yatra from Ramanagara to Bengaluru. It is learnt that the police are planning to stop the padayatra either at Ramanagara when it resumes on Thursday morning or near Bidadi when it ends in the evening, depending on the situation.

It is also said that the police are planning to stop leaders, like KPCC president DK Shivakumar, Leader of the Opposition Siddaramaiah and others, who have returned to Bengaluru, from entering Ramanagara. P4

As poll season heats up, another UP minister quits

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

IN what is being seen as a realignment of political forces in poll-bound Uttar Pradesh, a second BJP minister quit the Yogi government in as many days, while the party poached a couple of lawmakers from the Congress and the Samajwadi Party as also a former MLA from Akhilesh Yadav's party.

A day after UP minister Swami Prasad Maurya created a flutter by putting in his papers, his colleague Dara Singh Chauhan followed suit on Wednesday. Speculation about his exit had started doing the rounds after Maurya left on Tuesday. Both are serial party-hoppers.

Chauhan was holding the environment and forest portfolio in the Yogi cabinet. He had last defected from the BSP to the BJP in 2015 and was soon appointed chairman of the state backward commission.

A sitting MLA from Madhuban in Mau district of eastern UP, Chauhan is a prominent leader from the Most Backward Classes. In his resignation letter to Governor Anandiben Patel, Chauhan accused the BJP government of ignoring Dalits and backwards and tampering with their reservation rights.

While Chauhan had yet to reveal his destination, Akhilesh tweeted his photograph with Chauhan, welcoming him to the SP fold and calling him an apostle of social justice. P10

SERIAL PARTY-HOPPER DOES IT AGAIN

Dara Singh Chauhan represented the BSP in Rajya Sabha in 1996; SP in RS from 2000-2006; BSP again in Lok Sabha from 2009-2014; lost 2014 LS polls on BSP ticket before defecting to the BJP a year later

But Classes 1-9 in Bengaluru Urban and Rural should be shut till January 31 due to an increase in cases, he added. P3

3,000 BEDS TO BE READY IN CCCs BY TOMORROW

Physical triaging will be done, crowded markets to be decongested

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta on Wednesday said 3,000 beds will be readied in all 27 Covid Care Centres (CCCs) in the city by January 14. Another 3,000-5,000 beds will be added in the coming days in step-down hospitals (hotel rooms being used as CCCs in partnership with private hospitals).

Speaking to the media, Gupta said, 6,255 beds have been set aside for government-allotted Covid-19 patients through the CHBMS portal in government and private hospitals. Of these, 1,200 beds have been occupied, including 362 patients referred by the government. "Hospitalisation continues to be 1 per cent of those testing positive, while 90 per cent are in home isolation. A queue system has been arranged for allotting beds and a login has been given to each medical health officer to book beds," he elaborated.

As on Wednesday, there are 483 containment zones in the city, with about 60- 70 per cent of them in apartment complexes. In the coming days, revised advisory and guidelines will be issued for apartment complexes, PG accommodations, hostels and residents' welfare associations, he said.

Gupta said most containment zones are in Mahadevapura (156) Bommanahalli (114). "It has been seen that most cases are from people having domestic travel history, as strict restrictions are imposed on international travellers. Imposing restrictions and strict checks on domestic travellers is difficult at the moment. Those in home isolation must be under complete isolation for seven days after which a re-test is not required, unless symptoms prevail. People can dial 1533 (not 1912) for any query any time," he said.

Vendors will be asked to spread out to nearby lanes in market areas

He pointed that physical triaging will be done for each patient before they are admitted to hospitals or CCCs. "In 30-40 per cent of cases, physical triaging is being done based on the condition of the patient, comorbidities, age factor, children and number of cases. Tele-traiging is also being done and, if a patient does not get a call, they can reach out to the war rooms. Physical triaging is a must before admitting patients to private hospitals or CCCs, and the report must be shared with the BBMP," he said.

While adhering to ICMR guidelines on testing of primary contacts, the State Government is of the opinion that testing will continue and be increased as cases are rising, Gupta noted. Those having influenza-like illness (ILI), severe acute respiratory illness (SARI) or any other symptoms will be tested. In the coming days, all other high-risk sections too will be tested. The random and daily testing has increased from the earlier 30,000-50,000 to one lakh tests per day and will be further intensified if need be.

To reduce crowding in market areas, it has been decided after a meeting with police that vendors will be spread out from the core areas to nearby lanes. Revised guidelines will also be issued after consulting the traders' associations.

Also, 580 Marshals and 1,217 Home Guards have been deployed across all eight zones to enforce Covid-appropriate behaviour and assist with surveillance, the Palike chief added.

6 EMPLOYEES AT GROCERY E-PLATFORM TEST +VE

DONNA EVA @ Bengaluru

SIX employees of a Swiggy Instamart outlet in RT Nagar tested positive for Covid-19. The outlet caters to various localities in and around Hebbal.

The cluster at a grocery delivery outlet is a cause for concern as citizens are encouraged to avail of online services due to the restrictions in place. "Most workers were tested on Sunday, and those not tested were directed to get tested individually. Six persons tested positive and were immediately sent into quarantine. Health officials told us to get them tested a second time, which will be done on Thursday," said Naveen, the outlet manager. The workers were tested independently by the private company, and not by BBMP.

According to Naveen, BBMP has been informed about the cluster, and is monitoring the status of the patients. At least one of the patients has displayed mild symptoms, like coughing and sore throat. BBMP health officials could not be reached for further details.

An official release said that only seated travel will be allowed. The entry of passengers in stations will be restricted to allow for limited occupancy, based on available seating capacity in the trains. At present, the trains run every 20 minutes.

Biogas plant soon at CAR campus

ENS @Bengaluru

GAIL Gas Limited, Bengaluru, Hasiru Dala and the Bengaluru City Police have come together to set up a zero-waste management plant in Adugodi in the city.

A tripartite agreement was drawn up for the 01-TPD-CL Box Bio-Gas Plant at City Armed Reserve, south campus, at Adugodi. The plant is set to be commissioned in March, and is funded by GAIL Gas through its CSR initiative of Rs 39.20 lakh.

"This project is aimed at environmental protection, and the use of biodegradable waste for producing biogas and manure will be a gamechanger in reducing the piles of waste, and to achieve the bigger objective to make the Bengaluru police facility at Adugodi a zero-waste campus," Gail officials said.

They added that biogas produced at the plant, from waste generated by the police quarters and other sources, will be used for cooking food for police dogs, and the remaining gas will be piped to the community hall kitchen and common facility on the campus.

Pourakarmikas demand minimum wages of Rs 35K

BENGALURU: The BBMP Pourakarmika Sangha has demanded an increase in wages for workers, as the revision of minimum wages is overdue. As per the Minimum Wages Act, 1948, minimum wage should be revised, at the least, every five years. According to a statement made by the Sangha, the last revision of pourakarmikas' minimum wage was done in 2016. A revision was due in 2021. However, wages had not been increased and workers are being paid wages fixed in 2016. The workers had protested at the labour department in December, and had also approached the Karnataka High Court, regarding the issue. However, despite an order being given to the labour department to hear the demands of the Pourakarmika Sangha, revision of wages has not been done.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

13th January : I am often asked questions about astrology and diet. The truth is that it is difficult to generalise, and I tend to believe that we each have to work out what is best for us as individuals. I did once write a book on astrology and cooking, though, but it was all about pleasure rather than good health!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr 20)
The current relationship between Venus and Neptune is a delight for any astrologer to behold, for the one adds charm while the other favours fantasy. The consequences for you are wonderful, and include a great deal of love, affection and satisfaction. Open your heart.

TAURUS (Apr 21 - May 21)
Although the general planetary configuration is favourable, you may have to wait until this evening for positive indications. Do spend a little time in quiet reflection today, if at all possible. After all, some of the answers to your many questions are right in front of your nose!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
There was a time when you appeared to be on a collision course. Some of you, a minority, actually got to the point where confrontation was unavoidable. But the majority found that a threatened dispute has gradually disappeared or become utterly pointless.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Reality is not always your first option, but just what is real, anyway? With a simple reversal of some of your basic attitudes you can turn the current situation on its head and find fresh solutions to tired old problems. This also, by the way, happens to be a moment to focus your mind on the practical details.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You are about to have the chance to put your plans into effect, so there is no turning back or opting out. Feel free to insist that others give your ideas a chance. Consider your professional and worldly ambitions, and try to decide whether to set off on a new course, or leave it until next time around.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
It is tiresome when other people tell you what to do, especially when it's none of their business. Only you know best, and you must not allow partners, loved ones or friends to influence your judgment. Resurrect any forgotten overseas contacts, especially with former lovers and family members who reside in foreign parts.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Individuals who exercise a degree of power must be won over with charm. Nothing else will do. People who feel pushed into a corner will react sharply, and will not appreciate your efforts to get your own way. And those who feel ignored might blame you for not paying them enough attention!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Financial plans should be formulated as fast as possible. In fact, I'd suggest that you go ahead and present partners with a fait accompli. Female friends and sensitive types offer the best advice, perhaps because the qualities required at the moment are highly intuitive.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Social events are moving your way, so you now have a splendid opportunity to mend fences. Enjoy yourself today, for soon you receive reminders of all those boring chores and duties. In matters of the heart, try to follow your own desires, rather than being pressurised by social or family expectations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Even though certain individuals have taken sides against you, there seems to be little to bother you. Mercury and Venus form a favourable team, encouraging you to go for discreet get-togethers rather than riotous gatherings. You'll be anxious to see that everyone has a fair crack of the whip.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
The period immediately after the weekend will bring unexpected benefits, so if you're straining at the leash now, do be patient. Social stars look favourable and a recent tiff should now be ancient history. If someone else doesn't hold out the hand of friendship first, then you get on and make the necessary moves.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Practical decisions may be taken around midday or, if they concern private partnerships, early this evening. If spending is on the agenda, today offers all the chances you need. Conditions at work will thrive if you put harmonious personal contacts at the top of your list.

State shy of 1L active cases

Doubling trend points to community spread; Bengaluru has 73,000 active cases

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

FROM reporting 1,033 new Covid-19 cases on January 1, to 21,390 cases on January 12, the pace of doubling in Karnataka has been swift. The state is just 6,901 cases away from reaching 1 lakh active cases, as the current active caseload stands at 93,099. Active cases in Bengaluru as on Wednesday are 73,654.

The growth trajectory can be witnessed in the day-wise test positivity rate (TPR). Starting from as low as 1.60 per cent on January 3, the state reported 10.96 per cent day-wise TPR on Wednesday. Bengaluru is no exception. From reporting day-wise TPR of 8.01 per cent on January 6, the number shot up to 15.71 per cent on January 10. The state tally now touches 30,99,519.

Of the day's cases, 15,617 are from Bengaluru alone. Other districts leading the surge, with more than 1,000 active cases each, are Mysuru, Dakshina Kannada, Udupi, Tumakuru, Mandya and Hassan, in descending order of active cases. There are 19,470 primary contacts and 18,491 secondary contacts to be tested and monitored, as per the state Covid-19 War Room data.

The health department announced the district-wise daily testing target, with 2,80,000 tests as the state target, including 1,12,000 Rapid Antigen Tests and 1,68,000 RT-PCR tests. The daily target for BBMP area is 1,00,000, and 20,000 for Bengaluru Urban. "The primary contacts of the confirmed case must be tested, irrespective of whether it's high or low-risk. It's important that primary contacts remain at home for seven days, and testing be done at seven days even if asymptomatic, before coming out of quarantine. With such a high level of community transmission, I would sincerely urge primary contacts of a positive case to get themselves tested at seven days post-exposure (if no symptoms) or if with symptoms, ASAP. This is important to prevent the spread of infection to other family members and the community," said Dr Swati Rajagopal, Consultant - Infectious Disease & Travel Medicine, Aster CMI Hospital.

There were 10 Covid-19 deaths reported in the day, which took the state toll to 38,389. This is the first time Karnataka has reported deaths in double digits, since October 31. However, the mortality rate reduced from 1.24 per cent to 1.23 per cent.

FAST-SPREADING THIRD WAVE WILL PEAK IN JAN-END, SAYS IIT PROFESSOR

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

THE ongoing wave of SARS-CoV-2 should peak by the end of this month, and the numbers will start going down in February, said Professor of Mathematics & Computer Science, IIT Kanpur, Manindra Agrawal. He told TNIE that the prediction is based on his mathematical model called SUTRA.

"SUTRA is a mathematical model to capture the trajectory of a pandemic. It is governed by three main parameters: Contact rate (how fast is infection spreading), reach (what fraction of population is the pandemic active on) and detection ratio (ratio of detected cases and actual cases). The model is able to estimate values of these parameters from daily new cases time series. When the values of these parameters change, the model recomputes new values using recent data," said Agrawal.

On the question whether there is uniformity in numbers rising and dipping across the states, Prof Agrawal said there will be no uniformity in these numbers.

"Different states will rise and fall at different times. Although the difference is not expected to be large, since this wave is spreading fast. It appears to be manageable, with low hospitalisation rates," he said, adding that while R-Value in this wave is much higher than the previous wave, the "pattern of spread is very similar to the previous waves. It started with the metros before moving to other cities, and finally to the countryside. I don't think that it has reached the hinterland yet, but will reach soon".

He said that to a large extent, the current wave is caused by loss of immunity against Omicron. "In previous waves, the immunity loss was lesser comparatively," he added.

The mathematical modelling of the pandemic, based on data available in public domain, has suggested its curve, but it would be incorrect to say that it could be used as a model to predict future waves. "It is not possible to predict the timing of the next wave as that depends on when a new mutant arrives and spreads," said Prof Agrawal.

Over 450 students test +ve in DK district

MANGALURU: The health department has intensified vigilance in educational institutions, as over 450 students across Dakshina Kannada district have tested positive between January 1 to 12. According to District Health Officer Dr Kishore Kumar, as many as 433 students in the ages between 16 and 23, and 30 students in the age-group of 6 -15 years have tested positive for Covid-19 this month with mild symptoms. ENS

BUT schools should not be closed in other districts as online classes are not as effective as offline. Children, especially from rural areas, have not been faring well academically due to continued lockdowns and online classes, Nagesh reasoned.

The new Omicron variant has led to fewer cases of hospitalisation and is not a major cause of concern. Schools in other districts should remain open, he said. But if even a single case is detected at a school, that institution should be closed with all children being tested immediately and proper protocols being followed, he added. He emphasised that schools should follow strict Covid protocols and asked deputy commissioners to ensure that teachers followed the guidelines.

> B C Nagesh, Primary and Secondary Education Minister

He said children should get vaccinated as soon as possible if given a chance. "Quick and effective vaccinations are the reason why there is a lowered risk of a third wave and all measures should be taken to ensure that all eligible people are vaccinated. Officials should educate parents and students on the importance of vaccinations," Nagesh said.

RECORD CAMPUS PLACEMENT 2022, KIIT

Kalinga Institute of Industrial Technology under the guidance of founder Dr. Achyuta Samanta has hit a high note again this placement season

History repeats itself when efforts are endured. Kalinga Institute of Industrial Technology (KIIT) has not only grown to be a citadel but an achiever even in most adverse situations.

A Notch Higher

From a milestone and flag bearer for knowledge, now, in a repeat, Kalinga Institute of Industrial Technology (KIIT) Deemed to be University, Bhubaneswar, has achieved record campus placement with 270 plus top-notch companies doling out 4200 plus job offers for a batch size of 3500 eligible B.Tech students of 2022 graduating batch. This year, 50 new companies have participated in the placement process so far.

Seen in hindsight, it is not merely a record spree, but an outstanding result of years of tireless dedication and zeal that the Founder of KIIT Dr. Achyuta Samanta politely pursues. He is a man who never flaunts his triumphs.

The commencement of the campus placement season for the 2022 graduating batch started from May 2021 and KIIT is already well-poised to achieve cent percent campus placement for yet another year, informed Prof. Sasmita Samanta, Vice-Chancellor, KIIT-DU.

More than 3000 students got single placement offers, while the top 1500 students were placed in "Dream Companies" with an average CTC of Rs. 8.10 lakh p.a. Thirty-five companies offered CTC of Rs. 10.00 lakh and above per annum, while over 130 companies offered CTC of Rs. 5.00 lakh, said, Prof. Saranjit Singh, Pro-Vice-Chancellor, KIIT DU.

A Whopping Outreach

Five students of KIIT have got placement offers with the highest CTC of Rs. 52 lakh per annum. The average CTC is Rs. 6.05 lakh, which is 30% higher than the previous year. More than 3000 students are already placed and over 1200 students bagged multiple job offers.

KIIT-DU is the only university in India to proactively create an interface with the leading names in the industry. This is facilitating the placement of KIIT students in various national and multinational companies. For instance, HighRadius, a FinTech company, in collaboration with KIIT has established a FinTech Lab in KIIT Campus wherein, more than 2000 students are getting one-year experiential learning internship with a stipend of Rs. 15,000 per month. HighRadius has provided placement to 710 plus students of KIIT with Rs. 8 lakh package.

Breaking Boundaries of Class

This year, 'Day Zero' dream campus drives alone resulted in the placement of about 1500 students by MNCs with an average CTC of Rs. 8.10 lakh per annum. 'Day-One' campus recruitment drive generated about 2000 job offers from four companies.

Phenomenal Trajectory

Keeping up with our past trend, KIIT is well on its way to achieving phenomenal record placement for the 2022 graduating batch despite the COVID pandemic. In 2020, KIIT achieved cent percent placement in B.Tech, MBA, and Biotech, while more than 50% placement in Law. It also achieved record placement in 2021.

After defiant stand, Cong finds itself in a spot

Party's counsel was not present when High Court took up PIL for hearing; leaders discuss legal aspects

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru, Mysuru

HAVING ignored Covid-19 norms and earning the ire of certain sections of civil society, the Congress may have further fouled up by not appearing before the High Court on Wednesday in a public interest petition on the Mekedatu padayatra issue. The padayatra, which began on January 9 with much fanfare, seems to have run into foul weather with the High Court rapping both the State Government and the Opposition party. Congress sources said the options before the party were limited since no other major political party had expressed support for the padayatra.

Sources also alleged that KPCC president D K Shivakumar and team, having treated it as a prestige issue, even defying curfew orders on the day the padayatra began, may have taken the PIL lightly. During the preparatory meeting before the padayatra, party leaders had observed that the Omicron variant of the SARS-CoV2 virus was less lethal and ICU admissions were very negligible as compared to the second wave.

Former Congress legal cell chairman C M Dhananjay told TNIE, "We have received a notice and we will appear before the court on the next hearing on January 14." But he did not explain why the party's legal counsel was not present in court on Wednesday when the PIL came up for hearing. It was also not clear if it was part of a deliberate strategy or whether the party leadership was caught napping. KPCC working president Ramalinga Reddy simply said, "We will abide by the High Court's decision."

A party source noted that the option of deploying legal heavyweights like Kapil Sibal, Abhishek Manu Singvi or Vivek Tankha seems to have not crossed the minds of the state leadership.

Meanwhile, KPCC chief D K Shivakumar, Opposition leader in the Assembly, Siddaramaiah, and others, who had maintained an aggressive posture over the last three days, seemed mellowed down on the fourth day of the padayatra after the High Court rap.

Siddaramaiah and others held discussion with the legal cell chief Ponnanna and others regarding the questions raised by the Court. The Congress has decided to cite public cause for taking out the padayatra, while highlighting the precautionary measures, positivity rate in Ramanagara district and other aspects to convince the court that they have adhered to Covid norms.

Sources said the party leaders have decided to follow the High Court directives as they felt that going against it may turn counterproductive for the party. A few others, requesting anonymity, feared that the party may be blamed for the rise in positivity rate to project it as a villain in the eyes of the people. KPCC working president R Druvanarayana said the legal cell team held discussion with the state party chief and opposition leader in connection with the PIL and also on reply to be filed to the high court. He maintained that they have taken steps to follow Covid guidelines during the padayatra.

Third FIR against Congress leaders

ENS @ Bengaluru

As the Karnataka Congress' 10-day Mekedatu padayatra entered its fourth day on Wednesday, a third first information report (FIR) has been lodged against party leaders for holding the march in violation of Covid-19 restrictions imposed in the state.

Police have registered the FIR against 68 Congress leaders, including former chief minister Siddaramaiah, KPCC president D K Shivakumar, KPCC working presidents R Dhruvanarayana, Saleem Ahmed and Eshwar Khandre and former ministers H C Mahadevappa, Tanveer Sait and Priyank Kharge. The first FIR in the case was registered on January 9, the first day of the padayatra, in which 30 people were named for flouting Covid-19 norms. On Tuesday, 40 more people were named in the second FIR. Cases have been registered under the Karnataka Epidemic Diseases Act and various sections of the IPC. Despite the FIRs, Shivakumar and Siddaramaiah continued with their padayatra on Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Siddaramaiah hit out at the government for criticising the Congress over the padayatra. "The State Government is biased. BJP leaders are violating Covid rules. Why isn't the government taking action against them? Have they filed FIRs against them? The government is filing cases against us to scare us," he said, taking a dig at BJP MLAs M P Renukacharya and Subhash Guttedar for taking part in rallies.

Home Minister Araga Jnanendra said the Congress leaders should stop the padayatra and apologise to the people for violating Covid norms. "Our initial apprehensions over the padayatra are unfortunately coming true," he said.

Patil says rally planned much before Covid rise

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

Congress leader and former water resources minister MB Patil on Wednesday defended the party's Mekedatu Padayatra amid increasing Covid cases, saying the new Omicron variant is not dangerous and is a mild flu.

He said, "It is not like the first and second waves. As a responsible party, we are taking all precautionary measures and are using masks and sanitisers."

Stating that the padayatra is a fundamental right, Patil said the rally was decided much before the cases started to rise.

Rubbishing allegations that Congress did not take any initiative to implement the project when in power, he said a feasibility report and also a Detailed Project Report (DPR) were prepared when Congress was in power and the DPR was also submitted. A revised DPR was submitted when DK Shivakumar was the water resources minister.

He said they had appointed consultants to prepare the feasibility report for Mekedatu and three other sites and to prepare a DPR. The government had also given administrative approval for the DPR for Rs 5812 crore. On June 7, 2017, the DPR was forwarded to the Central Water Commission (CWC) in Bengaluru, which suggested that as per the new guidelines, a pre-feasibility report has to be submitted. On October 9, 2017, the report was submitted to CWC, New Delhi.

After Central Water Commission gave the nod on November 22, 2018, a revised DPR of Rs 9,000 crore was submitted on January 1, 2019, he said.

Water Resources Minister Govind Karjol said, "Let Patil first reply to BJP's questions instead of beating around the bush. Why did it take four years to prepare a DPR?"

March amid Covid, Karjol wants Cong to apologise

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayapura

THE war of words between the ruling BJP and the opposition Congress over the Mekedatu padayatra continued on Wednesday with Water Resources Minister Govind Karjol demanding an apology from the leaders of the Grand Old Party for taking out a march amid rising Covid-19 cases in Karnataka.

"The Congress has to stop this political drama. Because of its padayatra, several Congress workers, including MLAs and former legislators, have got Covid-19," Karjol told the media on Wednesday.

He also said the people were suffering because of the Congress' political gimmick. "We have also appealed to the Congress leaders to call off their padayatra. We don't have any agenda behind asking them to stop the rally. They have to issue an apology to the people for carrying out a padayatra during the pandemic," Karjol added.

Taking a jibe at the Congress over its 2013 Krishna basin padayatra, Karjol said, "It is not for the first time that the Congress is taking out such a padayatra. In 2013, they promised to work towards irrigating 15 lakh hectares of dry land in the Krishna basin. But they have not even succeeded in fulfilling half of the promises they had made to the people of Krishna basin in 2013. They have to issue another apology for failing to fulfill the promises they made to the people of Krishna basin. They have ruled the country for over five decades by making false promises. The Congress is losing power in many states and it will continue to decline."

To a question on the members of various organisations laying siege to the residence of Congress MLA M B Patil, Karjol said, "I have no knowledge about that. I will not stoop so low. I have good relations with Patil."

Cops to check vehicles coming for padayatra

BESIDES, it is decided to check vehicles entering the district headquarters and stop those who are coming to take part in the protest.

A heavy police deployment has been made at the district headquarters, as the padayatra has reached Ramanagara. More than 3,000 police personnel have been deployed in and around the Ijoor Circle and reserve police platoons are camping at places where arrangements have been made for the participants to rest.

The late-night meeting was held at the office of Ramanagara SP. Additional Director General of Police (Law & Order) Pratap Reddy, IGP of the Central Range M Chandrasekhar, Ramanagara SP Girish, and other senior police officers took part.

I am requesting the Congress leaders to suspend the rally in the interest of the state. I am reiterating that the state needs leaders like Siddaramaiah. My request to them is that they should take care of their health

Are you incompetent to stop rally: HC to govt

THE transport commissioner has been directed to help the district administration and police chiefs. "Any person violating these measures will be proceeded against as per provisions of Section 51 to 60 of the Disaster Management Act, 2005, besides legal action under Section 188 of the IPC, and other legal provisions," it said.

KPCC working president Salim Ahmed said they are going ahead with the Padayatra. "Let them arrest us or put us in jail, we will not stop. We have already finished one round of meeting with our legal team and we will consult them again on Thursday. We will submit our reply to the court on Thursday or Friday," he said.

Hearing a PIL earlier, the High Court questioned the government if it was helpless in stopping the rally. The PIL will come up for hearing on Friday. After the court directions, Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah said they will continue with the padayatra, but will abide by the court directions. "Hearing is on Friday. We will walk till then," he said.

Another party working president Ramalinga Reddy said if the court directs them to stop, they will.

A division bench of Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi and Justice Suraj Govindaraj asked the KPCC to inform the court whether permission was taken for the rally and whether appropriate steps are being taken to comply with Covid-related standard operating procedure (SOP) issued by the state government.

Hearing a public interest litigation by AV Nagendra Prasad, a resident of Bengaluru, the court asked the government, "In case of violation of the SOP, what action do you propose to take?"

The PIL questions the inaction of the state government, the Ramanagara DC and others in stopping the padayatra. The court took up the matter for hearing as it mentioned that the rally is a possible health risk.

Additional Advocate General Subramanya submitted that the government issued an order on January 4, 2022 banning rallies in view of rising Covid cases. The Ramanagara DC issued a notice on January 5, 2022 informing the KPCC that no permission has been granted to hold the padayatra. The authorities are registering FIRs every day, he argued.

The court orally observed, "Do you mean to say that state authorities are helpless to stop the rally? Are you waiting for the court to pass the orders? Are you totally incompetent to stop rally? Why are you silent knowing fully well that such a rally should not have been permitted in the present Covid-19 situation."

'Caste barriers a hindrance to unity'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kalaburagi

RASHTRIYA Swayamsevak Sangh Sarsanghchalak Mohan Bhagwat has stressed the need for unity among Hindus and said that there is no scope for casteism in Hindu society.

Addressing a select audience from different walks of life here on Wednesday evening, he highlighted the need for social equality among Hindus and said casteism is an obstacle to Hindu unity. Since its inception, the RSS has propagated the ancient values of Hinduism which stands for unity in diversity, humanity and a life of character. The Sangh gives top priority to 'Janani' and 'Janma Bhumi' (mother and motherland) and will do everything possible to protect the sacredness of both, he added.

Later, participating in an interaction, Bhagwat said that compared to the happenings in other countries, India is in a better position in many of the aspects including in internal security and controlling diseases. To another question on the attacks on Hindus in neighboring countries, Bhagwat said that basically Pakistan, Afghanistan and Nepal were part of Akhand Bharat, but due to some developments, they were being ruled by other people. "It is also true that Hindus are facing problems in Pakistan. The only solution is unity among Hindus in our country. "If we become united here, the problems of Hindus in Pakistan will be solved," he asserted. He admitted that there should be uniform laws for all in the nation.

Union Minister of State for Chemicals and Fertilizers Bhagawant Khuba, Industries Minister Murugesh Nirani, Animal Husbandry Minister Prabhu Chavan, Kalaburagi MP Dr Umesh Jadhav, and others were present.

Savarkar attempted to unite all sections, claims kin

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

RIGHT from accusing Vinayak Damodar Savarkar as being the reason for the Partition to charging him with being a co-conspirator in the assassination of Mahatma Gandhi, efforts continue to taint the personality of the freedom fighter, said Satyaki Savarkar, grandnephew of the Hindutva idealogue.

Delivering the keynote address at the 'Jayosthuthe' event, organised by Cultural Unity Recreation and Motivational Affiliates (CURMA) at Town Hall here to mark Swami Vivekananda's birth anniversary on Wednesday, Satyaki stressed that a political party is continuing the effort even now to distort Veer Savarkar's image.

Though Savarkar was a critic of Gandhi's non-violence path, he was never the one to take to violence. Savarkar's attempt at uniting all Hindu castes when he was in Ratnagiri is noteworthy and he did it through Mitra Melas (later Abhinav Bharat), a revolutionary organisation that he formed in his teens, Satyaki Savarkar pointed out.

Satyaki Savarkar addresses a gathering in Udupi on Wednesday | EXPRESS

Sathyaki said that a lot of misconception prevailed that Savarkar filed a mercy petition before the British to free him from the cellular jail in Andaman. But those were negotiation letters which the British rejected seven times. Only after laying down several conditions to shift him from the Andamans to Ratnagiri, his negotiation letter was accepted, he claimed. "Savarkar never sought mercy from the British," said Sathyaki. Veer Savarkar had proclaimed that only by imbibing the spirit of Chhatrapati Shivaji, can Indians get freedom from the British, he added.

ED ARRESTS CHINESE FIRM DIRECTOR FOR DEFRAUDING BANKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Directorate of Enforcement (ED) arrested Anup Nagaral, director of Hoewelai Jinsu, Hong Kong, SAR, China Ltd, under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA), 2002, in a case connected with fraud committed on banks under the guise of merchant trade.

The ED had initiated money laundering investigation on the basis of an FIR dated July 18, 2009, registered by High Grounds Police Station, Bengaluru.

Nagaral has been sent to judicial custody till January 17 by the Special PMLA court in Bengaluru. He was named accused by the ED, in its chargesheet filed in March 2019 before the PMLA court. He was earlier arrested by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) in December last year in the same case, after he returned to India and appeared before it. He was later enlarged on bail.

According to the ED investigation, two companies — FMPL and FEIPL — did not honour the tripartite agreements they had entered into with the Spices Trading Corporation Ltd (STCL) and overseas buyers and sellers.

Anup Nagaral was named accused by the ED, in its chargesheet filed in March 2019 before the PMLA court. He was earlier arrested by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) in December last year in the same case, after he returned to India and appeared before it

"The two companies had guaranteed the payments to be made by the overseas buyers. The STCL "established irrevocable LCs (letters of credit) for the usance period of 90 days. However, the LCs were devolved due to non-payment by overseas buyers which was guaranteed by FMPL and FEIPL, causing wrongful loss of USD 249.57 million to STCL".

ED had earlier attached immovable assets worth Rs 185.67 crore, located in Maharashtra, Punjab, New Delhi, Gujarat, Bengaluru and Ballari, under PMLA.

AD HOC DELHI COVID RESPONSE SHOWS LACK OF COHERENCE

Just like in the summer of 2020 and 2021, Delhi is among the metros that have turned into a Covid-19 hotspot. The number of fresh cases has been in the range of 20,000 a day while the positivity rate is above 25%, two-and-a-half times the national average. Amidst these grim figures, the silver lining is that, like in the rest of the country, the rate of hospitalisation is low, indicating that the number of serious patients is few.

To tackle the surge, the Delhi government has imposed several restrictions such as imposing weekend curfews, closing restaurants and bars, and even shutting all private offices except those offering essential services. But the manner in which the state government has gone about responding to the current public health crisis does little to inspire confidence as it has not been coherent. About two weeks ago, when the surge had just begun, the government decided to halve the occupancy in all public transport, including the Delhi Metro, now the lifeline in the national capital. It resulted in long queues at bus stops and metro stations, forcing the government to roll it back within days. Another decision that seems to make little sense is to close all private offices, presumably to avoid crowding, while keeping wholesale and popular retail markets open. Many of these markets are packed with shoppers and sundry hangers-on, making them potential superspreaders. Then on Sunday, the state government relaxed its decision to close all places of worship and allowed Sikh devotees to visit gurdwaras to celebrate Guru Gobind Singh's birth anniversary. The decision was clearly driven by the elections in Punjab, where the AAP sniffs a historic victory.

The first and second waves of the pandemic had exposed the Delhi government's lack of administrative experience, especially during a crisis. It is clear the government has hardly learnt from the past. Had it done so, ad hocism would not have marked its responses to the emergency now. Unlike other states, Delhi is minuscule in size, making it uniquely possible to enforce rules and Covid-appropriate behaviour among the public. The Delhi government needs to go beyond its success in revolutionising school education and curbing corruption.

REIN IN T'GANA'S MONEYLENDERS

Modern-day Shylocks are having a free run in Telangana. They take advantage of people's need for money during emergencies and their inability to come up with the collateral security that is needed to approach banks. In two heart-wrenching recent incidents, one in Nizamabad and the other in Bhadradri-Kothagudem district, eight members of two families, unable to wriggle free from the vice-like grip of creditors, ended their lives.

As moneylenders kept increasing pressure for repayment, a small-time businessman, his wife, and two sons went to Vijayawada from Nizamabad, where they committed suicide. In the latter case, a businessman set himself and his family on fire in Palvoncha in Bhadradri-Kothagudem as he could not find a way to repay his piling-up debts. He had been deprived of what he thought was a fair share of his parents' property due to the alleged involvement of a TRS MLA's son, who has since been arrested for abetment.

The two painful incidents are disquieting symptoms of a deep-rooted malaise afflicting society. The creditors charge high rates of interest, 3–4% per month that goes up to 6% in case of default on instalments. For the collection of money, the lenders use all methods—from abusing debtors in public to physical attacks. The Nizamabad family died by suicide since they were afraid of physical harm. Though the money lenders Act in the state provides for six months of rigorous imprisonment to the culprits, in practice it has not been of much help. These lenders are widespread in Nizamabad and neighbouring Karimnagar district as well as in the old city of Hyderabad. Though they cannot charge more than 2% over what the banks do, this is rarely enforced. The Act should have more teeth, including severe punishment to such creditors.

HOW COMPANIES CAN TRANSFORM & NOT PAY FOR OWN DEMISE

ASHOKE K MAITRA
Founder, Sri Ramakrishna International Institute of Management (SRIIOM)

SOUMYADIP SINHA

Can we stop change? Surely not. However, can we bravely face change? Yes, we can.

Faith in ourselves, courage and accepting that we don't know everything and don't have all the solutions can start a process of introspection and reflection. This can show us alternatives and help us chart a new way.

Companies such as Apple, Titan, Asian Paints, HDFC Bank and Reliance, and social organisations such as Ramakrishna Mission and Society of Jesus have done just that and grown over a sustainable period of 30 years. They have experimented, found new solutions, and become stronger and wiser. Innovation is the key to survival.

The customer has more choices than ever before. The organisations that went southward were stuck in the past and continued to do what they did even when everything around them had changed.

I have been studying organisation transformation for over 30 years and have facilitated change in many firms. Some of the major reasons for being unable to change are old organisational structures, mindsets and unwillingness to adapt. Most industrial firms still follow the scientific management model of Frederick Taylor that aims to fix problems, believing that once the issues are solved, the organisation will go back to a state of equilibrium and start growing again.

Managers are also trained to fix problems. A good manager is a person adept at fixing problems fast and one whose strength is compliance to desired norms, and not necessarily a thought leader.

In many organisations, at senior most levels, we have highly competent and compliant problem solvers, but they are unable to make the company grow. Tata Motors for a long time had this problem, which led to the birth of an inferior product called Nano. No one had the courage to tell the top management that it was a bad idea. Luckily a new MD arrived. He changed the culture and fixed the issue. The company is now becoming a big player in the EV space.

Many companies still follow an organisation structure that is pyramidal, horizontally divided into levels of hierarchy, and vertically in terms of functions such as marketing and sales, production, etc. It is not just about businesses. The once-largest political party in the nation is today finding it difficult to win elections. It is stuck in the high-command culture and is unable to examine itself. The command and control model works in the Armed Forces, and not in industries and social organisations any more.

As per Taylor's model, a manager is selected for a function and put at a level. In other words, the person fits a box. While fitting someone in a box has brought in great specialisation and established a hierarchy and a chain of command, it has reduced the consciousness level of a person.

Most types of performance appraisal, be it management by objectives (MBO), 360-degree feedback or balanced scorecard, are designed to measure what a person in a box was expected to achieve, not what transformation he/she has brought.

The second problem lies in the leadership. Most organisations are not training their leaders (department/ unit/ plant heads) to become transformational. Research shows that more than 50% of employees leave companies because of bad behaviour of the leaders. Most managers occupying top levels are not really leaders. They only occupy a leadership position.

> Most types of performance appraisal are designed to measure what a person in a box was expected to achieve, not what transformation he/she has brought. ... People should be engaged to discover, dream together, design questions and chalk out their own destiny. This is a very powerful method of engagement and it creates a community of seekers rearing to transform the company

Gallup research demonstrates that globally, only 20% of employees of most companies are engaged and many are actively disengaged. If our leaders were so great, why would such a phenomenon take place? Think!

American author John Maxwell says in his book The 360° Leader that managers at middle and senior levels need to be trained in five levels of leadership to evolve as transformational bosses. Robert Greenleaf, a corporate manager, in his books says the leader must decide to serve people, more than lead. The person should have an altruistic disposition and those working under him/ her must grow in wisdom, maturity, knowledge, etc.

Our training programme in transformational leadership—using Maxwell's and Greenleaf's theories and teaching participatory methods to involve people over the years with diverse industries in the BFSI, IT and manufacturing sectors—has demonstrated this and once managers are trained, they become effective transformational and holistic leaders. We have found retention, performance and productivity of teams improve.

The third area of organisation transformation is how to go about improving engagement of people. Research in organisation development demonstrates that instead of finding out what is going wrong in the company, the firm should use "appreciative inquiry" and "design thinking" as a method to find out what is going right with the internal and external customers, and then build on the strengths.

We have realised that finding what is going wrong makes the company go into a grief cycle. Old-fashioned employee satisfaction and engagement surveys do exactly that and this does more harm than any good to your organisation. You are paying for your demise.

People should be engaged to discover, dream together, design questions and chalk out their own destiny. This is a very powerful method of engagement and it creates a community of seekers rearing to transform the company.

THE KILLING OF JATAYU BY RAVANA IN PAINTINGS

SRINIVAS SISTLA
Associate professor, Department of Fine Arts, Andhra University, Visakhapatnam

Raja Ravi Varma (1848–1906) created at least two large-scale oil paintings on Jatayu Vadha from the Ramayana; one was executed for some patron in Thiruvananthapuram and the other in 1906 for Maharaja Krishnaraja Wadiyar (r. 1894–1940) of Mysore. Later, the Maharaja had given permission to a printing press in Mumbai to make oleograph prints of the version in his collection, and hence it became more well known than the other.

In the Thiruvananthapuram work, Ravana slashes, with a sword in his right hand, one wing of Jatayu, while the bird is attacking him from his right side. The aloft right hand of Ravana suggests the force with which he executed the act of cutting the wing, which is shown falling down. In the Mysore work, the bird is shown attacking Ravana from the top, wherein he had already cut with the sword one wing, which is still above in the air. Immediately, Ravana lowers the sword so as to cut the other wing. In both the works, the gruesomeness with which Ravana is slaying Jatayu is suggested in the pose and hand gesture of Sita—she is covering her face in utter fear. The former version leaves no doubt that the incident is taking place far above the earth. The same also suggests that Ravana along with Sita have been flying in the sky. The latter version, however, shows him with Sita on a chunk of the earth, which appears a bit higher and rising from the surrounding fields. Though many more such differences exist in the compositional aspects of the works, in both the paintings, Ravana is portrayed as holding Sita tightly with his left hand.

In various versions of the Ramayana, Ravana abducting Sita and slaying Jatayu have been narrated differently. In the Valmiki Ramayana, Ravana drags Sita into a chariot by holding her hair and her right leg with both his hands. In the Adhyatma Ramayana, however, Sita faints after seeing the fearsome face of Ravana. Then, without touching Sita, Ravana takes the entire chunk of earth around her and places it in the chariot. In both the paintings, Ravi Varma has not shown the chariot altogether. In the former, he appears to fly in the air on his own strength. In the latter, he stands firmly on the rising chunk of the earth. In this one, the strength with which the bird has attacked Ravana is also indicated by showing his crown lying in front of his feet. Further, in both the works, the artist has painted Ravana as muscular in stature, dark in colour, having long hair and with only one head, not the customary 10.

K Venkatappa (1886–1965), who belonged to the traditional family of royal painters of Mysore, had studied art in Kolkata between 1909 and 1916. He must have seen Jatayu Vadha of Ravi Varma at Mysore, and yet, he composed the same theme very differently. Myths of the Hindus and Buddhists (1914), a book by Sister Nivedita and A K Coomaraswamy, contains 32 watercolour paintings done by Abanindranath Tagore, the vice-principal of the Government School of Art, Calcutta, and his students. K Venkatappa contributed seven paintings on various themes from the Ramayana, including 'Ravana fighting with Jatayu'. Venkatappa has done a very unusual composition—a close-up view of the incident in which parts of the body of the two combating beings were not included within the pictorial space. The swan-chariot, with Ravana and Sita, is shown in the dark sky over and above patches of white clouds. Ravana appears here with multiple heads and hands, which bear many traditional weapons like the mace, elephant-goad, spear, sword, axe, etc. Apparently at first, the bird had an upper hand in the fight; for, the chariot's front pillars, which evidently bear the canopy, have been shown broken. Further, Sita's importance in the painting has been highlighted by showing a luminous halo behind her head. She is shown bending down at the front end of the chariot and dropping her pearl necklace on to the earth. Sita's face and the swan's head, which is also looking downwards, in my opinion, are analogous. Venkatappa appears to have chosen such a moment of the incident in which the real violence, i.e. the cutting down of the bird's wings, has not yet commenced.

Raja Ravi Varma is known to be a self-taught painter and achieved remarkable progress from his first portrait works to his later paintings on Indian mythology. Venkatappa received training in the traditional style, which became famous by the name Mysore painting. He went on to study art in an institution where E B Havell, the principal, and Tagore had begun to expose students to various schools of traditional Indian paintings, including Ajanta murals and Mughal and Rajasthani miniatures. With such an upbringing, both Ravi Varma and Venkatappa visualised the same theme with their own individual ways of seeing.

Test for UP BJP

Swami Prasad Maurya switched over from the BSP to the BJP in 2016 before Assembly polls in 2017. And now he has changed parties just before elections to reap benefits. Nevertheless, it is time for the UP BJP to introspect and is a litmus test for the state's CM. The allegations made by Maurya deserve to be looked into as they concern large sections of society. However, Maurya should have resigned long ago on the same count instead of holding on to his ministerial berth till the last moment.

Covid double standards

Kerala's daily Covid count has increased by 100% from last week. The state's health minister blames it on "increased interaction" during Christmas and New Year. But the state government lets its supporters take out protest marches. It is these double standards among those who are supposed to lead by example that derail the fight against Covid.

Whither transparency?

The article Will judicial delay help the Maran brothers escape? (Jan 12) has raised a pertinent issue. Despite tall talk by judges on various fora, it is obvious that the judiciary is not transparent in its functioning though it has given directions to many governments and organisations to be open in their dealings. No one knows the basis on which the judiciary takes up cases and how priority is determined. The author has written about his 2013 petition and how the accused are delaying the issue through various forms of litigation. Let the reform start in the judiciary for the speedy disposal of cases.

Expedite Maran case

The details of how the Maran brothers used their clout in multiple ways to delay the probe would shock any law-abiding citizen. Leaders such as the late Jayalalithaa, Lalu Prasad Yadav and Om Prakash Chautala have undergone incarceration over graft allegations. It is expected that the judiciary will once again act and expedite the case against the Maran brothers to prove to the nation that justice will be delivered in cases of corruption in high places. Kudos to the author for keeping track of the developments and non-developments in the case tirelessly.

Indian sponsors at last

A pat on the back for the BCCI for getting the Tata group as sponsor for the IPL and letting go of the Chinese conglomerate (Tata group to replace Vivo as title sponsor, Jan 12). There is no reason for the BCCI to fish for Chinese or other foreign sponsors when there are enough Indian behemoths who could fit the bill.

To stay at LAC for as long as required: Gen Naravane

Army chief says not every round of talk with China will be productive

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

INDIAN Army Chief General MM Naravane on Wednesday made it clear that while the Chinese have carried out a major enhancement of the troop level and built permanent infrastructure along the Line of Actual Control in eastern Ladakh, it remains to be seen if they permanently garrison themselves there or de-induct in the time to come. Till then, Indian forces will have to be prepared to stay there.

Replying to a question from this daily — at the Chief of Army Staff annual press conference — whether the PLA was preparing for permanent deployment, General Naravane said, "Amassing of large forces by the Chinese is the root cause of the situation." He said reaching de-indcution will pass through several processes. "But before we reach that level, we have to be prepared to stay there for as long as required."

As far as the ongoing situation is concerned, it will have to follow laid out steps. "Firstly, it will be dis-engagement, then we can think of a little bit of de-escalation and (it means) moving back from being bang on LAC to the depth areas but remaining in the general areas. Once this kind of confidence is built, then we can think of de-induction wherein the troops can go in their permanent garrison." But, it has to be done mutually, the chief pointed out.

Talking about the overall border situation, General Naravane said what existed last January has changed. "I think we can say there have been positive developments, both along our northern and western borders in the last one year."

The 14th round of talks between the Indian and Chinese Corps Commanders was underway as the Chief was briefing the media. "Good thing that talks are going on. It shows we can resolve differences through dialogue. Each time we talk, we narrow down to the issues, that is why this mechanism is important," he pointed out.

To expect every round of talks to have an outcome is also unreasonable, General Naravane said. "We are hopeful that we will be able to resolve the issue of PP 15 (Hot Springs), the one which is pending now. Once that is done, we will go to other issues that predate the current stand-off." Other issues include the stand-offs at Depsang and Demchok. But while there has been partial disengagement, he made it clear that "the threat has by no means reduced."

Force levels, in areas where dis-engagement is yet to take place, have been enhanced with around 60,000 troops from both sides in Eastern Ladakh.

"Good thing that talks are going on. It shows we can resolve differences through dialogue. Each time we talk, we narrow down to the issues, that is why this mechanism is important —Gen MM Naravane, army chief

EX-JUDGE TO PROBE SECURITY BREACH

KANU SARDA @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday set up a panel to probe the security lapse during Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to Punjab last week. The panel will be headed by by former Supreme Court judge, Justice Indu Malhotra.

A bench headed by Chief Justice of India N V Ramana said other members of the panel will be DG of the National Investigation Agency or an IG level officer nominated by him, police chief of Chandigarh, ADGP (security) of Punjab and the Registrar General of the Punjab and Haryana High Court.

"We are of considered opinion that such a sensitive issue relating to breach of the Prime Minister's security can't be left to one-sided inquiries by the Centre or the state government. A judicially trained independent mind assisted by officers well acquainted with security considerations, and the Registrar General of the high court who had seized records on our orders, would inquire into the incident."

The committee will probe the causes of the breach, ascertain who were the persons responsible for it and recommend measures for preventing such lapses in VVIP security in future, the bench said. The panel has been given the liberty to make suggestions for the safety and security of other constitutional functionaries or any other issue it may deem proper to look into. There was no deadline fixed for the panel to submit its report. The order simply said the panel should submit it at the earliest. The bench also stayed the proceedings initiated by the inquiry committees set up by the Centre and Punjab government. The top court directed the Registrar General of Punjab and Haryana High Court to submit all records and documents seized by him to the probe panel head.

TERMS OF REFERENCE FOR INQUIRY COMMITTEE'

1. What were the causes for the security breach on January 5?
2. Who were responsible and to what extent?
3. What should be the remedial measures or safeguards necessary for the security of the Prime Minister or other protectees?
4. Any suggestions or recommendations for improving the safety and security of other constitutional functionaries
5. Any other incidental issue

Plan was to assassinate PM, claim CMs of Assam & MP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati/Bhopal

ASSAM Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma has claimed that his Punjab counterpart Charanjit Singh Channi and the Congress high command hatched a conspiracy to kill Prime Minister Narendra Modi on January 5. Madhya Pradesh CM Shivraj Singh Chouhan said the same and attacked Congress chief Sonia Gandi.

"It was not sudden but preplanned and sponsored. From the evidence that emerged, it's clear the Congress high command and Punjab CM conspired to kill the PM," Sarma said. His charges were based, among other things, on purported statements of the local Station House Officer and a DSP of the CID of Punjab Police during a "sting operation" carried out by an "established TV channel", he claimed.

Sarma said it was clear from the statements of the duo that a conspiracy was hatched to kill Modi. "The DSP clearly stated that a group of people would congregate and try to disrupt the PM's travel which would pose a threat to his life. He had apprised his SSP of it on January 2," Sarma said.

The CID kept updating the authorities and said the protest was staged by Khalistani supporters, Sarma said. "The SHO said he was not tasked to probe the incident. He also said the protestors were not farmers but Khalistanis. How did they know the PM was travelling by road and how did they assemble so fast?"

Chouhan attacked Sonia. "Madam will have to reply, why Punjab Police remained a mute spectator, even as the PM's security was being messed up. Why was the Punjab Chief Secretary and DGP not present in the PM's fleet? How did the protestors gather at the road in such a short time," said the MP CM.

Army's Nagaland report soon: Chief

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

ARMY Chief General MM Naravane reiterated on Wednesday that the killing of civilians in Mon district of Nagaland was highly regrettable. Replying to a question on the army personnel getting any protection under the Armed Forces Special Powers Act (AFSPA), General Naravane said, "The inquiry is in its final stages and findings would be submitted in a day or two."

In the aftermath of the incident, the Eastern Command was quick in ordering a probe led by a two-star Major General, added the Chief. "I would like to clarify that the law of the land is paramount. We would uphold that and take action as required in upholding the law of the land." He was speaking at the Indian Army Annual Day conference.

In a case of mistaken identity, a special unit of the Indian Army on December 4 opened fire at a pick-up van carrying miners in Mon district. Six miners were killed on the spot and nine more, including an army soldier, were killed in the violence which followed the incident.

Earlier, a special investigation team (SIT) set up by the Nagaland government on December 30 collected the statements of army officers and jawans involved in the incident. "We have been cooperating fully with the SIT and both the CoI and SIT are taking statements from a wide cross section of people who were involved, so that we can come to a greater understanding of what happened. And based on the finding of the inquiry, appropriate action would be taken," said General Naravane.

Deliberating on the overall security situation in the northeast region, General Naravane said it has improved manifold. Although there was an ambush on a convoy of 46 Assam Rifles in which a colonel was killed, he said it doesn't indicate deterioration in the overall situation.

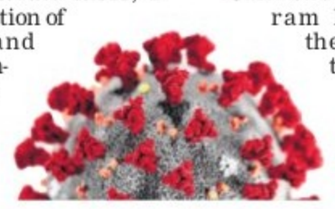
Policy tweak lets mild cases leave in 7 days

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

The Centre on Wednesday revised its hospital discharge policy for Covid-19 patients, categorising them as mild, moderate and severe, adding mild cases can be discharged seven days after testing positive without a repeat test. However, mild patients must be without fever for three consecutive days before discharge, the advisory stated.

As for moderate cases, if there is resolution of symptoms and patients maintain oxygen saturation greater than 93% for three successive days without oxygen support, they can be discharged.



ICMR director general Balram Bhargava said there was no need to test mild patients before home isolation as there is enough evidence to suggest that people do not spread infection after five days of infection, if they do not have symptoms. "Since RT-PCR tests are very sensitive—they continue to detect even dead viruses raising false alarms that a person is positive but that is not the case," he said.

The advisory comes as India added 1,94,720 new infections to its tally of Covid-19 cases.

Molnupiravir off treatment protocol because of high risk factor

A beneficiary receives the booster shot in Budgam in Kashmir on Wednesday | PTI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

GOVERNMENT authorities on Wednesday said molnupiravir, the drug granted emergency use approval to treat Covid-19, is not included in the national coronavirus treatment protocol due to major safety concerns. Officials also asked doctors to prescribe drugs rationally as the cases rise sharply.

A national task force for deciding Covid-19 treatment protocol, in a meeting on Monday, had decided against including the drug in the guidelines saying that its known and unknown risks far exceeded the "claimed benefit". The drug, originally developed by Merck and Ridgeback, is manufactured in India by 13 companies, after being granted emergency use authorization by the Drug Controller General of India.

ICMR director general Balram Bhargava, in a press briefing by the Union health ministry, said members of the task force unanimously felt the drug should not be included in the treatment protocol as it had major safety concerns.

"It can cause teratogenicity, mutagenicity and it can also cause cartilage damage and can also be damaging for muscles. Contraception will have to be done for three months for males and females if this drug is given, because the child born could be problematic due to teratogenic influence," he had said last week.

Niti Aayog member (health), V K Paul stressed the need of rational use of all the drugs for Covid-19, citing how the overuse of steroids during the last wave in India had triggered a massive spurt of mucormycosis or black fungus cases.

In India, molnupiravir has been indicated for adult Covid-19 patients with comorbidities within five days of showing symptoms, having blood oxygen levels 93% and a high-risk progression of the infection including hospitalisation or death.

MODI TO INTERACT WITH CHIEF MINISTERS TODAY

New Delhi: Prime Minister Narendra Modi will interact with chief ministers over the Covid-19 situation on Thursday amid the surge in cases caused by the Omicron variant, according to sources. Fresh curbs have been imposed in various parts of the country to check the spread of the highly transmissible variant of the virus.

Covaxin booster effective against Omicron: Maker

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

COVAXIN maker Bharat Biotech on Wednesday claimed the booster shot of the Covid-19 vaccine is capable of neutralising both Omicron and Delta variants, with over 90% of the test serum samples showing neutralisation of Omicron.

Omicron, first reported from South Africa in late November, has triggered a fresh wave of infections worldwide. The study was conducted at the Emory Vaccine Centre in Atlanta, US, by Ocugen, a partner of the Indian vaccine maker as part of ongoing Phase 2 clinical trials, during which immune sera were analysed from 13 trial participants, 28 days after their booster jabs. The participants had been administered the booster shots six months after their full vaccination with two primary doses.

The company said sera samples from individuals who received a booster of Covaxin were observed to be effective in neutralising Omicron and Delta variants on a live virus neutralisation assay and its neutralisation activity was comparable to what has been observed in mRNA vaccine-boosted sera against Omicron.

News channel ratings to resume

New Delhi: Considering the oversight mechanism and revamped protocol put in place by the Broadcast Audience Research Council (BARC), the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting has asked it to resume ratings for news channels with immediate effect. Following allegations of rigging viewership data for news channels, the weekly target rating point (TRP) system was suspended in October 2020. The ministry asked the agency to release the last three months' data, for the genre in a monthly format, for fair and equitable representation of true trends. As per the revised system, reporting of news and niche genres will be based on a 'four-week rolling average concept', a method to find trends using data.

Hate speech: SC issues notice to Uttarakhand

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday sought the Uttarakhand government's response on a petition seeking a probe into the alleged hate speeches delivered at the Dharam Sansad in Haridwar last month. The petitioner is Justice Anjana Prakash, former judge of the Patna High Court. The petition is seeking an independent and impartial probe into the matter by a special investigation team.

Appearing for the petitioner, senior advocate and Congress leader Kapil Sibal submitted that the court must hear the matter again soon to prevent another similar congregation in Aligarh on January 23.

However the three-judge bench led by Chief Justice of India N V Ramana declined to give an urgent hearing and said, "We give you the liberty to move a representation before the authorities. Tell them it is against the law and Supreme Court's order. We cannot do anything at this stage," the court said, and hinted that it would hear the matter after 10 days. "We are issuing notice to the state government concerned, and then let us take it up," said the bench.

When senior advocate Indira Jaising intervened on behalf of Tushar Gandhi, Mahatma Gandhi's great-grandson, on whose petition the Supreme Court in 2018 had laid down guidelines to curb incidents of mob lynching that were on a rise in the name of cow vigilantism, the bench remarked verbally that too many petitions in the matter would lead to confusion.

Sharp fall in air travel following latest Covid surge

KUMAR VIKRAM @ New Delhi

AMID the unprecedented spike in Covid cases in the country, domestic air traffic has dropped below the 2 lakh daily mark after 125 days. As per the civil aviation ministry, airlines carried 1,89,392 passengers on January 11. This is a sharp decline from the highest of 3.93 lakh passengers that domestic airports recorded during the third week of November 2021.

An airport authority official said the number of domestic passengers was nearly 3.5 lakh per day during the end of December 2021. But it started dipping as Covid cases witnessed a surge. On January 4, the number of domestic air travellers went below the mark of 3 lakh.

"Many states have imposed restrictions at airports. Leisure travel is gone. Business travel and essential travel has also come down as people are avoiding journey. All these factors are reflected in the low number of air passengers," said the official.

States have imposed separate norms or guidelines for testing and quarantine. For example, Bhubaneswar Municipal Corporation (BMC) issued fresh guidelines for air passengers coming to the city, making Covid-19 tests mandatory for all deplaning at Biju Patnaik International Airport with effect from January 7.

Due to the restrictions, the number of flights came down sharply in the last week. IndiGo limited its flights connecting Kolkata, Durgapur and Bagdogra to Delhi and Mumbai to Mondays and Fridays. Besides, many airlines including IndiGo, Air India and Go First have announced free change of date or flight number for domestic flights in view of the prevailing "uncertainties".

BJP gets OBC wake-up call

Faces challenge in striking balance between own cadre & turncoats

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE exit of Swami Prasad Maurya, sitting BJP MLA and cabinet minister in the UP government, barely a month ahead of the upcoming Assembly election is a lesson for the ruling BJP. Maurya announced on Wednesday that he would be joining the Samajwadi Party on January 14. Three sitting BJP MLAs close to him have already quit BJP and a few more are likely to follow suit.

Maurya has been a leader of the OBCs (other backward classes) across multiple political formations for almost four decades. There are 50% OBC voters in UP. Yadavs are around 9% of those, and have traditionally supported the Samajwadi Party. Parties continue to fight over the 32-35% of non-Yadav OBC votes. BJP leaders, who have already got into damage control, say Maurya suspected he would not get the party ticket. "Regardless of any reason, it has left behind a lesson for the BJP of not trusting the turncoats blindly at the cost of its original cadre," says political commentator JP Shukla.

Political experts say the series of events since Tuesday have jolted the confidence of the ruling party leaders. "Overconfidence at the time of elections sometimes proves fatal," says Prof AK Mishra, a prominent political scientist.

Maurya is a known party hopper. However, he poses a challenge to the BJP in striking a balance between its own cadre and the big faces imported from other parties, feels Prof Mishra.

Political experts are of the opinion that the ruling party will also be facing a challenge of keeping its own cadre content while accommodating the fence sitters. Sources say many more leaders, who had joined the BJP ahead of the 2017 polls and got plum portfolios, may now switch sides. The names of Dara Singh Chauhan and Dharam Singh Saini, both ministers in the cabinet, have been doing the rounds.

While Chauhan has already tendered his resignation, Saini's next move is expected. However, Saini has denied any such plan, swearing his loyalty to the ruling party for now. "The BJP needs to resolve some of the issues otherwise the trust overdose on turncoats would dent its popularity and prestige," says Prof SK Dwivedi. He says the jolt given by Swami Prasad Maurya establishes the fact that even BJP is responsible for it.

Maurya was a prominent OBC leader when he was in the BSP. When BSP's popularity started declining in 2016, Maurya hopped on to the BJP.

"His dual standards could be gauged from the fact that after holding a cabinet minister post in the Yogi government for five years, he realised that he was having ideological differences with the BJP at the end of the tenure," says Shukla. Moreover, he is not going to compromise his daughter Sanghmitra's future as she has left with at least two years of her tenure as BJP MP from Badaun, says Shukla. After her father's exit, Sanghmitra is swearing her loyalty for the BJP.

The emergence of Keshav Prasad Maurya as an OBC leader overshadowed Swami's clout in the BJP. Despite being an OBC leader, he failed to ensure victory for his son, Utkrisht Maurya, from Unchahaar despite the BJP wave in the 2017 Assembly elections. The sources said that non-assurance of a ticket to his son was one of the reasons for Maurya to quit the BJP.

Oppn MLAs too jump ship to BJP

FOR his part, Deputy Chief Minister Keshav Prasad Maurya urged both Maurya and Chauhan to reconsider their decisions.

"If any family member strays, it is very sad. I can only appeal... please don't get on a sinking ship. Big brother Dara Singhji, please reconsider," Maurya tweeted.

Chauhan hails from the Loniya-Rajput community, a sub-caste of the MBCs that constitutes 3% of UP's population. They have clout in eastern UP. His joining the SP would strengthen Akhilesh's efforts to bring non-OBCs on board to project his party as a rainbow of all castes. The Loniya-Rajput community is mainly concentrated in and around east UP districts of Ghazipur, Mau, Azamgarh, Gorakhpur, Varanasi and Pratapgarh.

As for the BJP's acquisitions of the day, sitting MLAs Naresh Saini (Congress) and Hari Om Yadav (SP), and former SP MLA Dharampal Singh joined the party on Wednesday. Both Saini and Yadav represent backward classes.

We offered them 10 to 15 seats but they didn't agree." ENS

PRIYANKA'S U.P. FORAY TOO LITTLE, TOO LATE?

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

CONGRESS general secretary Priyanka Gandhi Vadra's efforts to revive the party in Uttar Pradesh seem to have hit a blockade ahead of the Assembly elections with exodus of party leaders, including MLAs, continuing from the party.

With recent defections, the party's strength of legislators has been reduced to three from seven. Key party leaders like Congress MLAs Masood Akhtar and Naresh Saini recently joined the SP and BJP respectively. Senior party leaders were of the opinion that if Priyanka had started ground work a year back, things would have worked differently.

A senior party MP said Priyanka has put in a lot of efforts to reach out to people and make some resonance among voters but it is too little too late in a state having multi-party contest. Also, the state unit of the party is in a bad shape.

"Priyanka Gandhi started outreach in the state towards the end of last year. Had she started a year and half before, the impact would have been different. With the election becoming a fight between the BJP and SP, the vote swings will be towards winning parties," said a senior party leader.

Priyanka has been working to revive the Congress in the Hindi heartland, where the party's base has completely eroded. Several senior leaders have left the party after being sidelined by her while many are on the way out.

Also, several leaders had complained against the high handedness of Priyanka's team. "There have been complaints and many came knocking at the door of Sonia Gandhi but their concerns were not addressed. This has led to many leaving the party," said a senior leader.

Maurya gets warrant in 7-yr-old case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Lucknow

BARELY 24 hours after quitting the BJP government in Uttar Pradesh, Swami Prasad Maurya is faced with an arrest warrant in a seven-year-old case related to his alleged hate speech in 2014.

The warrant was issued by the MP/MLA court of Sultanpur after Maurya jumped the non-bailable warrant issued against him by it on January 6.

Maurya is accused of inciting religious enmity through his speech in 2014. He was a BSP MLA at that time. As per sources, Maurya's utterings were in connection with Lord Ganesha and Goddess Gauri, an incarnation of Goddess Durga. "Goddess Gauri or Lord Ganesha should not be worshipped during weddings. It is a conspiracy by the system dominated by the upper castes to mislead and enslave SCs and backward castes," Maurya had reportedly said at a gathering then.

A case was registered against Maurya on November 22, 2014, under Section 295 A of IPC (Malicious acts, intended to outrage religious feelings).

Maharashtra govt orders names of shops, businesses in Marathi

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AHEAD of the BMC elections, Uddhav Thackeray-led Mava Vikas Aghadi took a slew of decisions on Wednesday aimed at wooing the 'Marathi manoons'.

The Maharashtra cabinet approved amendment to the Shops and Establishments Act making it mandatory for shops and business establishments having ten or more employees to display the nameplates in Marathi along with other languages such as English and Hindi. It was legally mandatory to do so earlier, too. But most shop owners display the name in other languages prominently while that in Marathi figures in a very small size that is not visible from a distance.

After this amendment, the shop owners will have to display the name in Marathi in the same or bigger size as other languages. In another decision, the use of national and spiritual icons in naming bars and wine shops has been barred. These establishments cannot use Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj fort or other structures to name bars and wine shops. Marathi language minister Subhash Desai has welcomed the decisions.

The cabinet also okayed the proposal to waive off property tax of apartments measuring 500 sq ft or 46.45 sq metre and less in Mumbai. Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray had made the announcement on December 31 as a New Year gift to Mumbaikars. The waiver will benefit 16.14 lakh residential property owners in Mumbai. However, the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation will lose ₹417 crore while the state government will suffer a revenue loss of ₹45 crore.

Myanmar insurgents planning attacks in Manipur: Intel

SANA SHAKIL @ New Delhi

WITH hardly a month left for Assembly polls in Manipur, security agencies have been alerted about a big security threat of insurgents from Myanmar planning terror acts in the poll-bound state. Highly placed sources said an insurgent group based in Myanmar was trying to carry out terror attacks in Manipur in coordination with Northeast-based militant outfits.

The sources also said insurgent groups such as NSCN K (YA) and PLA have been trying to set up new bases in Myanmar and that they are trying to create disturbance in the Northeast just before the polls.

According to intelligence inputs, insurgent groups, as part of their terror operations, are planning to attack security forces in Manipur. Additionally, intelligence agencies believe a new batch of highly trained recruits belonging to ULFA(I) has infiltrated into Assam.

"It was brought to our notice that senior leaders of NSCN(K-Y/A) held a high-level meeting in a nearby village in Myanmar to plan retaliatory attack on the forces, which carried out a precision attack against the group in June 2018," a senior security official said.

There are active insurgent groups in Assam, Manipur, Arunachal Pradesh and Nagaland which have not yet entered into a ceasefire agreement with the Centre. These include ULFA (I) in Assam, NSCN-K (YA) in southern Arunachal Pradesh and Nagaland, and Imphal Valley-based insurgent groups like the People's Liberation Army (PLA), People's Revolutionary Party of Kangleipak (PREPAK), Kanglei Yawol Kanna Lup (KYKL) and the United National Liberation Front (UNLF).

Stricter rule in J&K on govt staff assets

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

IN order to check corruption, the Jammu and Kashmir administration has amended rules governing declaration of assets of government employees, making it compulsory for them to reveal information about all those assets having value that exceeds their two months' basic salary.

"Every public servant shall submit annual return through online mode using the portal https://prs.jk.gov.in for the calendar year between January 1 and 31, of the next calendar year, in respect of all the assets possessed by him/her and family members which shall include the assets in respect of movable property, the value of which exceeds his/her two months basic salary in each case, giving full particulars," reads a notification issued by Principal Secretary to Government Manoj Kumar Dwivedi.

The notification further states that every public servant shall bring to the notice of the prescribed authority the acquisition or transfer of movable property where the value of such property exceeds their two months basic salary in each case.

Before the amendment to Jammu and Kashmir Public Servants Declaration of Assets and Other Provisions Rules, 1998, the government employees had to declare details of their moveable properties if their value exceeded ₹20,000 in each case.

Furnish asset info or forget rise in pay, govt tells babus

KUMAR VIKRAM @ New Delhi

IN order to expedite the submission of immovable property details of bureaucrats, the Centre has said officers will have to file the details if they want to be considered for appointment in the next level of pay in the pay matrix.

DoPT has introduced this norm as many bureaucrats have been found not filing property details within time.

A DoPT letter issued on Tuesday clearly mentioned, "A member of the service shall file immovable property return (IPR) within the time frame, January 31, for being considered for appointment in the next level of pay in the pay matrix." The letter has been addressed to various secretariats and also to the ECI, CVC and others. Moreover, non-submission of details constitutes sufficient reason for disciplinary proceedings.

Order to close tuition centres attracts flak

Private coaching institutes and students going for tuition in such centres have criticised the administration's move to shut the centres in Jammu and Kashmir due to spike in Covid cases. Coaching Centres' Association of Kashmir (CCAK) has said whenever there is a slight increase in Covid cases, education sector becomes the first casualty. "We fail to understand why the government seems to be keen on closing down the education sector," a spokesman of the association said. He said despite the surge in cases, all activities including festivals, business and rallies go on normally.

Minor girl turns reporter to criticise bad road

A minor girl in Kashmir has turned to reporting to highlight the bad condition of roads. In a video that has gone viral, the girl, wearing a red jacket and carrying a small lapel mic in her hand, can be seen complaining about the condition of roads after the snowfall. "The road is so bad that guests can't come," the girl is seen saying while directing the camera person (her mom) to show the potholes in the area. In the 2.08-minute video, the girl says people are dumping garbage on the road. The little reporter also urges the viewers to "like, share, and subscribe" her channel with a promise to meet them in the next video. She has now become an internet sensation.

Boris says sorry for attending lockdown party

UK PM apologises in Parliament, says he believed it was a work event; Oppn benches flay him, demand resignation

LONDON

BRITISH Prime Minister Boris Johnson on Wednesday extended a 'heartfelt apology' in the House of Commons in response to growing anger around reports of a 'bring-your-own-booze' (BYOB) party in the 10 Downing Street garden during the height of the UK's first Covid lockdown in May 2020.

Johnson has been under intense pressure from the Opposition Labour Party as members of his own Conservative Party since an email invitation for the event on May 20, 2020 emerged in the media.

Labour Leader Keir Starmer said Johnson should "do the decent thing and resign" over his "pathetic" excuses and "ridiculous" lies.

Johnson, 57, expressed 'regret' as he admitted for the first time that he did attend the event, which he said he believed fell within the scope of a work event. "I want to apologise. I know that millions of people across this country have made extraordinary sacrifices over the last 18 months," he said in his statement to the Commons. "I know the things they feel with me and at the government I lead when they think that in Downing Street itself the rules are not being properly followed by the people who make the rules. And although I cannot anticipate the conclusions of the current inquiry, I have learned enough to know there are things we simply did not get right and I must take responsibility," he said.

He went on to lay out the details of his presence at the garden party "to thank groups of staff before going into my office 25 minutes later to continue waiting."

"I believed it was a work event. With hindsight, I should have sent everyone back inside, I should have found some other way to thank them and I should have recognised that even if it could be said to be technically within the guidance, there would be millions and millions of people who simply would not see it that way," he said, calling on Parliament to wait for the findings of an ongoing investigation into lockdown breaches within government ranks.

However, he faced a blistering attack from the Opposition benches, with Labour Leader Starmer leading the charge to demand his resignation. "Well, there we have it. After months of deceit and deception, the pathetic spectacle of a man who's run out of rope. His defence that he didn't realise he was at a party is so ridiculous that it's actually offensive to the British public,' said Starmer.

"When the whole country was locked down, he was holding boozy parties in Downing Street. Is he now going to do the decent thing and resign," he questioned. PTI

ROYALS & REALITY TV STARS: FAMOUS COVID RULEBREAKERS

From British PM Boris Johnson to reality TV star Kim Kardashian, the Dutch royals and now tennis superstar Novak Djokovic, a slew of politicians and celebrities have found themselves in hot water over Covid rules. Here are some of the most famous offenders

DOWNING STREET FOLLIES

British PM Boris Johnson's top advisor Dominic Cummings caused an uproar in Britain after breaching lockdown rules in May 2020 to travel the length of England to be with his parents. He later said he took another trip in a car to "check his eyesight" before eventually being forced to step down. It was to be the first of a long line of Covid-related scandals to rock Johnson and his government.

KISS ME QUICK

British health minister Matt Hancock resigned for breaking the Covid rules he had himself set after being caught on film in a steamy clinch with his colleague in his ministry in June 2020.

SELFIE SCHTICK

South Africa President Cyril Ramaphosa broke social distancing rules to pose for a selfie with two women who approached him in the street in May 2020. Laughing, he joked: "Come before we get arrested." He wasn't arrested but the video went viral sparking outrage.

KARDASHIAN BIRTHDAY BASH

Reality TV star Kim Kardashian sparked anger in October 2020 by throwing a party on a private island to celebrate her 40th birthday, with photos showing revellers without masks.

ROYAL PARDON

The Dutch royal family apologised last month when they invited 21 people to celebrate the 18th birthday of future queen Princess Amalia when only four were allowed. It was one of a string of Covid faux pas committed by the House of Orange with King Willem-Alexander repeatedly breaking social distancing rules by shaking hands and the family going on holiday to Greece during a partial lockdown.

COSTLY MEAL

Polish PM Mateusz Morawiecki apologised in May 2020 after posing for official photographs with staff in a restaurant when his own advice to others was to dine out only with close family.

'BAD MISTAKE'

California governor Gavin Newsom was forced to admit he made a "bad mistake" in November 2020 by attending a friend's birthday dinner during a spike in cases.

Kazakhstan detains 1,678 more after violent unrest

MOSCOW

KAZAKH authorities said Wednesday they detained 1,678 more people in the past 24 hours over their alleged participation in the violent unrest that rocked the former Soviet nation last week, the worst since Kazakhstan gained independence three decades ago.

The additional detentions, reported by authorities in Almaty, the country's largest city that was hit the hardest by the turmoil, brought the total number of arrests to about 12,000.

More than 300 criminal investigations into mass unrest and assaults on law enforcement officers have been opened.

Protests over soaring fuel prices erupted in the oil- and gas-rich Central Asian nation of 19 million on January 2 and quickly spread across the country, with political slogans reflecting wider discontent over the country's authoritarian government.

As the unrest mounted, the authorities attempted to mollify the protesters and announced a 180-day cap on fuel prices. The ministerial Cabinet resigned and Nursultan Nazarbayev, the country's former longtime leader, was ousted from his post of head of the National Security Council. Still, over the next few days, the demonstrations turned violent, with dozens of civilians and law enforcement officers killed.

In Almaty, Kazakhstan's former capital, protesters set government buildings on fire and briefly seized the airport. The unrest was largely quelled by last weekend. AP

Foreign-backed terrorists: Prez

Kazakhstan President Kassym-Jomart Tokayev has blamed the unrest on foreign-backed 'terrorists' and requested help from the Collective Security Treaty Organization, a Russia-led military alliance comprising six ex-Soviet states. The bloc authorised sending 2,500 troops to Kazakhstan. Tokayev said on Tuesday that CSTO will start withdrawing its troops this week, as they have completed their mission and the situation in the country has stabilised.

Prince Andrew's plea to dismiss sex case denied

New York: A US judge on Wednesday denied Prince Andrew's plea to dismiss a sexual assault lawsuit brought against him, paving the way for the case to proceed. New York Judge Lewis Kaplan said Andrew's motion to dismiss the complaint brought by Virginia Giuffre was "denied in all respects." Giuffre alleges that Epstein lent her out for sex with his wealthy and powerful associates, including Andrew, an allegation that Queen Elizabeth II's second son has denied. AFP

Cyprus swaps student quarantine with tests

Nicosia: Cyprus is changing its compulsory quarantine rules for school children to keep them in school amid surging Covid cases, the country's health minister said on Wednesday. Under the new system, schoolkids who were in close contact with classmates who test positive will no longer face quarantine. Instead, they must undergo either a rapid or a self-test for five consecutive days while continuing to attend school, so long as they test negative. AFP

US hits North Korean officials with sanctions after latest missile test

WASHINGTON

THE Biden administration on Wednesday slapped sanctions on five North Korean officials in its first response to Pyongyang's latest ballistic missile test.

The Treasury Department announced it was imposing penalties on the officials over their roles in obtaining equipment and technology for the North's missile programmes.

The State Department also ordered sanctions against another North Korean, a Russian man and a Russian firm for their broader support of North Korea's weapons of mass destruction activities.

The moves came just hours after North Korea said its leader Kim Jong Un oversaw a successful flight test of a hypersonic missile on Tuesday that he claimed would greatly increase the country's nuclear 'war deterrent.'

All five North Koreans targeted by Treasury are accused of providing money, goods or services to North Korea's Second Academy of Natural Sciences, which Treasury says is heavily involved in the country's military defence programmes.

"The DPRK's latest missile launches are further evidence that it continues to advance prohibited programs despite the international community's calls for diplomacy and denuclearization," said Treasury's chief of terrorism and financial intelligence, Brian Nelson.

He referred to the North by the acronym of its official name: the Democratic People's Republic of Korea. AP

8 killed as car bomb hits out side Mogadishu airport in Somalia

MOGADISHU

A CAR bomb exploded on Wednesday outside the international airport in Somalia's capital, Mogadishu, killing at least eight people and wounding nine others, a local doctor said. The al-Shabab extremist group claimed responsibility, saying the attack was targeting 'white officials' passing by.

Dr Abdulkadir Adam with the Medina hospital told AP about the death toll. Witnesses at the scene said a passing UN convoy appeared to be the target in the blast near a checkpoint leading to the heavily fortified airport, but the UN mission said there were no UNpersonnel or contractors in the convoy. The al-Qaeda-linked al-Shabab extremist group, which controls parts of Somalia, said via its Radio Andalus that a convoy of 'white officials' had been the target.

Mogadishu's deputy mayor, Ali Abdi Wardhere, told reporters at the scene that his own convoy had been driving nearby at the time but was unharmed. He said an investigation was underway and gave a toll of five soldiers killed and five civilians injured. The international airport hosts the US Embassy, among other diplomatic offices.

The blast occurred amid the latest period of political and security uncertainty in Somalia, the Horn of Africa nation where tensions are rising over an election that has been delayed for almost a year.

The African Union peacekeeping mission has been asked to contribute security outside Somalia's presidential palace, where opposing armed factions supporting President Mohamed Abdullahi Mohamed and Prime Minister Mohamed Hussein Roble have been present. AP

TWIN PANDA CUBS DEBUT AT TOKYO ZOO, WOO DEVOTED FANS

TOKYO

TWIN panda cubs made their first public appearance Wednesday before devoted fans in Tokyo but only briefly for now ' just for three days' due to a spike in COVID-19 cases driven by the omicron variant.

The twins, male cub Xiao Xiao and its sister Lei Lei, which were born at Tokyo's Ueno Zoo in June, took their first steps as beaming fans held up their smartphones to film the cuddly pair as they played together.

In a video released by the zoo Wednesday, the twin cubs sit back to back on a tree, playing with bamboo, while visitors can be heard saying 'kawaii (cute)!" in the background. Then the male cub steps on its sister to move up the tree.

The twins, which were palm-sized pink creatures when they were born, now weigh as much as a toddler each and have developed black-and-white fur. They enjoy climbing trees and playing together on the wood chips on the ground, according to the zoo. In preparation for their debut, the twins and their mother were placed in a shared living quarter where they were exposed to sounds from a radio to get used to noise and voices from visitors. The zoo has been closed since Tuesday as the highly transmissible omicron variant spreads rapidly across Japan. The zoo is open only for the twin panda exhibit until Friday, with 1,080 visitors who won slots in a competitive lottery granted access each day.

Groups of six people were allowed to enter the panda quarters, where they could remain for one minute. The public viewing period is limited to two hours in the morning.

The rare animals live mainly in the bamboo-covered mountains in China's Sichuan area. AP

The twin cubs' elder sister, Xiang Xiang, born in the Ueno Zoo in 2017, is set to be sent back to China in June.

No role of govt in Vi decision making: CEO

Says DoT does not want its nominee on the company's board and the govt wants three players in telecom market

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

A day after Vodafone Idea Ltd (VIL) opted to convert interest on dues to government equity, the telco on Wednesday denied government's taking over it or any role of government in its decision making body.

While addressing press managing director and chief executive officer Ravinder Takkar said that the government has no desire to run Vodafone Idea. In fact, it wants its promoters to run it.

"The government, through a letter from the Department of Telecommunications (DoT), has clarified that it does not want its nominee on the board. They have said there is no intention to nominate a person on to the board, we don't expect it either," informed Takkar.

He also mentioned that the government doesn't want a duopoly in the Indian telecom market. "They want three private players in the sector, not a duopoly. In all my personal interactions with the government, they have been very clear they do not want to run the company and do not want to take over operations," he retorted.

Today's announcement brought cheer for VIL as its shares started gaining and

> In all my personal interactions with the government, they have been very clear they do not want to run the company and do not want to take over operations.
>
> Ravinder Takkar, CEO & MD, VIL

touched an intraday high of ₹13.25, a day after it tanked 20%. Its share opened at ₹12.10 in today's session against the previous close of ₹11.80. Experts believe the reason for the debacle of VIL's shares in the market on Tuesday was fear among investors that the government will take over operations of the company.

Following the decision, the government became the single-largest shareholder with 35.8% stake in Vodafone Idea, a joint venture between the Aditya Birla group and UK-headquartered Vodafone.

The two existing promoters–Vodafone India and the Aditya Birla Group will have 28.5 % and 17.8% stake, respectively in the company. Takkar emphasised that the existing promoters, Aditya Birla Group and Vodafone Plc, will continue to manage the company. There will be no interference from the government's side at all.

"After the equity conversion, we both promoters will jointly hold 46.3% stake in the company... both promoters will continue to have high engagement, will involve and participate in all the decision making," said Takkar. The rationale behind the decision of Vodafone Idea was its growing debt to the government.

Not paying for telcos' shares: DoT

Shares to be sold

The government said it can sell these shares at appropriate time and receive the amounts due on telcos

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE government on Wednesday clarified that it is not paying anything to acquire the shares of any telecom service providers (TSPs).

In a FAQ released by the Department of Telecommunication (DoT), the government said certain dues payable by some telecom operators are being converted to equity and the government can sell these shares at appropriate time and thereby receive the amounts due.

"No. Government is not paying anything to acquire the shares of any TSP. Certain dues payable by some of the TSPs are being converted to equity/preference capital in these Companies based on options exercised by them as per the Telecom Reforms Package announced on September 15th 2021," said DoT.

Recently, the telecom operators Vodafone Idea and Tata Tele services (Mumbai) have opted for converting the interest on spectrum and adjusted gross revenue (AGR) dues into government equity. Following the decision, the government will hold around 35.8% stake in Vodafone and 9.5% stake in Tata Teleservices.

It said the telecom sector has gone through a long period of litigation. As a result, all the telecom companies have high amounts of liabilities which have arisen due to various legacy issues. These legacy issues have put the Indian telecom industry under stress. Therefore, the government approved many structural and procedural reforms in September 2021.

"As a part of these reforms, the TSPs were given the option to convert some certain interest liabilities owed to the government into equity/preference shares in favor of the government," informed the ministry.

The government said these companies will continue to be managed as professionally run private companies.

NBFCs facilitating dodgy loan apps: ED

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Enforcement Director, while investigating a money laundering case against a Non-banking Finance Company (NBFC), has found that NBFCs in India are facilitating unscrupulous loan apps to use their license and do full-scale lending in clear violation of Reserve Bank of India (RBI) norms.

These fintech mobile apps provide unsecured instant micro personal loans for terms ranging from 7 days to 14 days.

₹72 cr attached from acounts of an NBFC

On Wednesday the ED attached `72.32 crore lying in various bank accounts and payment gateway accounts of Kudos Finance and Investments Private Limited, and its various fintech partner companies

The enforcement agency has been cracking down on such loan apps and has been making arrests and attachments in many such cases.

On Wednesday the ED attached ₹72.32 crore lying in various bank accounts and payment gateway accounts of Kudos Finance and Investments Private Limited, an NBFC, and its various fintech partner companies.

ED is conducting money laundering investigation against a number of Indian NBFC companies and their fintech partner Mobile Applications (apps) against which multiple FIRs have been in connection with illegal lending and use of extortionist means to recover exorbitant rate of interest from their customers.

Kudos Finance and Investment is one such NBFC company which signed MoUs with 39 fintech companies and illegally accepted 'security deposits' from them and allowed them to operate lending activities.

According to the agency, Kudos did not have the required net owned funds of more than ₹10 crore, and yet lent (through its mobile app partners) in excess of ₹2,200 crore in a very short span of time.

ED further alleged that the NBFC runs call centres which make extortion calls to customers and earned ₹24 crore in commissions.

It had earlier arrested Kudos' CEO Pavitra Pradip Walvekar on December 17, 2021 and he is in judicial custody.

Infosys boosts guidance; net up 12% to ₹ 5,809 cr

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

ON the back of strong performance, digital transformation and project pipeline, IT services company Infosys on Wednesday revised its revenue guidance for FY22 to 19.5%-20% from the previous 16.5-17.5%.

Beating street expectations, the IT major reported 11.7% increase in consolidated net profit at ₹5,809 crore for the third quarter ending December 31, 2021, compared to ₹5,197 crore in the same quarter previous year.

The Bengaluru-based company's revenue increased 22.9% to ₹31,867 crore, compared to ₹25,927 crore in the same quarter last year.

"Our strong performance and market share gains are a testament to the enormous confidence our clients have in us to help them in their digital transformation. This stems from four years of sustained strategic focus on areas of relevance for our clients in digital and cloud, continued re-skilling of our people, and deep relationships of trust that our clients have with us," Salil Parekh, CEO and MD, Infosys said.

He added that this has reflected an upgrade in the company's revenue guidance for FY22. Infosys' digital revenues stood at 58.5% of total revenues, Y-o-Y CC growth of 42.6%. "Despite the cost escalations driven primarily by supply side challenges, we delivered another quarter of healthy margins, with improved cost optimisation, continued operating leverage and a stable pricing environment," said Nilanjan Roy, Chief Financial Officer, Infosys.

With digital transformation rapidly scaling across verticals and regions, the company's large deal wins accelerated with TCV (total contract value) of $2.53 billion in the third quarter.

To hire 55,000 freshers

Infosys continues to prioritise investments in talent acquisition, as the company expanded its fresher hiring programme to over 55,000 in this fiscal. "This hiring is to support our growth ambitions," said Nilanjan Roy.

This quarter, Infosys attrition increased to over 25% compared to 20% in the previous quarter. The company's total employees as on December 31, 2021 stood at 2,92,067.

Omicron hits footfalls; malls' rental revenues likely to drop by 10%: Crisil

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THIRD WAVE TO HAVE LESS IMPACT

The ratings agency said, unlike the earlier waves when malls were shut completely, metros such as Mumbai and NCR have only implemented capacity or timing restrictions in the current wave.

MALLS could see their rental revenues drop by 10% this fiscal, ratings agency Crisil said on Wednesday.

"Renewed restrictions and localised lockdowns to contain the Omicron variant-led third wave of the Covid-19 pandemic will pare as much as 10% off the rental revenue of mall owners this fiscal, compared with earlier expectations," said Crisil in a research note.

However, it said, the credit profiles of mall owners will be able to absorb the shock given relatively faster recovery compared with the earlier waves.

This could also be because of the short-term impact that's being believed Omicron may have. "The third wave-led restrictions on malls for the top eight cities are expected to last only 4-5 weeks compared with the median closure of 7-8 weeks seen during the second wave and 13-14 weeks during the first wave," the ratings agency said, adding, unlike the earlier waves when malls were shut completely, metros such as Mumbai and the National Capital Region have only implemented capacity or timing restrictions so far in the current wave.

This difference in response of state governments, supported by lower hospitalisation rates, augurs well for the malls business this time around, though the capacity and timing restrictions are expected to dampen footfalls and retail sales, it said.

Anand Kulkarni, Director, Crisil Ratings, says, "The third wave may restrict recovery of mall revenue in fiscal 2022 to 70-75% of the pre-pandemic level as against earlier expectations of 80-85%."

IIP up 1.4% in November

ACCORDING to analysts, low base effect could have led to food and beverage prices rising 4.5% in December compared with 2.6% in November.

However, economists welcome the softening of fuel, oil and fat prices. They also see broad-based moderation in food prices in January 2022.

"The overall falling sequential momentum on food prices is expected to continue in January but the sticky core inflation and adverse base effect poses risk of the next reading being higher than 6%," said Upasna Bhardwaj, economist, Kotak Mahindra Bank. Meanwhile, the Index of Industrial Production (IIP), which measures the industrial activities in the economy, grew the slowest in nine months.

The IIP recorded an increase of 1.4% in November, down from 3.2% growth in October.

Both mining and manufacturing growth in November showed a tepid growth of 5.0% and 0.9%, respectively (11.3% and 2% in October). Electricity grew 2.1% in November. "It is very clear that the GDP growth took a serious hit in October-November 2021 and thus, the third quarter of the financial year. I am confident that the consensus of 6.3% y-o-y growth forecast will be revised down and 5-5.5% looks more likely," said Nikhil Gupta, chief economist at Motilal Oswal Financial Services.

The fuel price cut is expected to benefit the company as volumes continue to remain strong, leading to elevated freight rates, despite the fuel price cut. The management expects tonnage to grow by 10-15% in FY23, and margin for the GT (goods transport) segment to sustain ~20% levels. We expect VRLL to clock 19% revenue CAGR over FY21-24E.

OIL AT 2-MONTH HIGHS

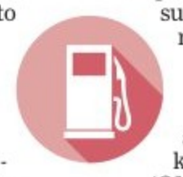
Crude up but fuel price unchanged since Nov 4

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

OIL prices in the international market on Wednesday witnessed two-month highs, an indication of easing fear of Omicron coronavirus variant. Brent crude oil was up by 0.6% to $84.19 per barrel and WTI crude oil was up 0.8% to $81.88 per barrel.

Despite the oil prices again climbing to $84 per barrel in the international market, the prices of petrol and diesel have remained unchanged for 68 days in a row in India.

The last time prices were changed was on November 4, 2021, when the central government cut excise duty to give relief from rates that had touched an all-time high. Thus, this is the longest duration of no-change in prices since the daily price revision was introduced in June 2017, as per the data. Prior to that, there was an 82-day hiatus in rate revision between March 17, 2020, and June 6, 2020. On November 4, 2021, excise duty on diesel was cut by ₹10 a litre and that on petrol by ₹5 per litre, resulting in an equivalent reduction in retail pump rates.



According to a price notification by state-owned oil marketing companies (OMCs), a litre of petrol in Delhi costs ₹95.41, while the price of diesel costs ₹86.67 per litre. In Mumbai, the price of petrol is highest among metros at ₹109.98 per litre. In Kolkata it costs ₹104.67 and ₹101.40 per litre in Chennai. Diesel retails at ₹94.14 per litre in Mumbai, ₹101.56 in Kolkata and ₹91.43 per litre in Chennai.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

IT major Wipro on Wednesday reported flat consolidated net profit at ₹2,969 crore for the third quarter ending December 31, 2021. Its net profit stood at ₹2,967 crore in the same quarter last year.

The company's consolidated revenues for Q3 were up 30% at ₹20,314 crore compared to ₹15,670 crore in the same quarter last fiscal.

In the last 12 months, the IT company has added seven new customers in a more than $100 million revenue league. It also reported IT services revenue at $2.64 billion in Q3.

Thierry Delaporte, CEO and Managing Director, Wipro, said that the company is confident of building on this momentum. "We have delivered a fifth consecutive quarter of strong performance, both on revenues, and margins. Order bookings have been strong too... We closed the third quarter with 11 large deals resulting in a total contract value of over $600 million," he said.

Jatin Dalal, Chief Financial Officer, Wipro, said that the company expects revenue from IT services business to be in the range of $2,692 million to $2,745 million for the quarter ended Mar 31, 2022.

OFFICES TO STAY SHUT AMID COVID

Wipro's attrition remains a cause for concern as it stood at 22.7%. However, it added 10,306 employees during the third quarter. The CEO also said that following a surge in the Covid cases, Wipro will close its offices globally for the next one month. The company's board has approved an interim dividend of `1 per share.

5G interference in aviation uncorroborated: COAI

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Cellular Operators Association of India (COAI) on Wednesday said that the issue of 5G spectrum interference raised by the Federation of Indian Pilots is uncorroborated. The industry body said there is enough gap of 530 MHz (from 3670 MHz to 4200 MHz) in the transmission of frequencies, making it safe for 5G and aviation to co-exist.

"The matter has been highlighted in the past as well wherein the authorities have found the issue of spectrum interference uncorroborated. Thus, making it safe for 5G and aviation to co-exist. In the post-pandemic world, connectivity is an important issue and a bigger asset for the economy. It is essential that the country has the required spectrum to meet the escalating demands for wireless connectivity," said SP Kochhar, DG, COAI. The 6,000-member Federation of Indian Pilots, on Jan 4, wrote to Civil Aviation Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia and requested him to ask the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) and the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) to develop a plan that enables the safe and efficient implementation of fifth generation (5G) mobile communications networks in the C-band, the frequency band that is allocated for commercial telecommunications via satellites. Their concern came in the wake of the global aviation industry raising serious concerns over the potential interference of 5G wireless signals with sensitive aircraft equipment like radio altitude meters.

Pacers answer SOS call, again

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

VIRAT Kohli has been here before. Quite a few times, in fact. Luckily, his 'Break Glass In Case Of Emergency' options are Mohammed Shami and Jasprit Bumrah. Under spotless skies at Cape Town, the duo swung the match, and by extension, the series, India's way. Temba Bavuma and Keegan Petersen, who's fast building a reputation for himself, had strung together an eye-catching 47-run stand for the fifth wicket. What was concerning about the stand was the unhurried nature of it. The boundaries (four) and doubles (seven) were a constant source of irritation for the visitors who had seen their lead cut down to under 70. Even if they consumed deliveries without scoring (the pair faced six maidens across 15 completed overs), the 'xx' in the 'lead by xx' number was coming down all the time.

That's when Kohli had seen enough. He removed the luckless Shardul Thakur and brought on Shami. In the context of the day, it was a big 30 minutes before tea. The Proteas were having visible designs on running up a healthy lead. 10 Shami balls later, those designs had been nipped in the bud. All morning, Shami had a lovely curve on his deliveries. Bavuma, who has been driving on the up all through the series, felt for one such delivery. Kohli completed the rest with a low catch to his left. Two balls later, Kyle Verreynne was dismissed in similar fashion. The ball had a lovely shape to it and his unsure prod found the gloves of Rishabh Pant.

With one end opened up, Kohli, who at one point led the team through an elaborate rhythmic hand-clapping routine to gee up the fielders, brought back Jasprit Bumrah, who had already accounted for the dangerous Aiden Markram in the first over of the day. After softening up Marco Jensen with a few short balls, he moved the radar subtly to a back of a good length area.

The end result was a peach that hit the top of off with Jensen's bat not even in the same postcode. A few overs after tea, he accounted for Petersen as well with a ball that had extra bounce and caught the edge of the blade before settling in the hands of Cheteshwar Pujara at first slip. The innings ended, perhaps fittingly, with Bumrah claiming a fifer, his seventh since making his debut at the same venue four years ago.

Far superior keyboards have espoused the virtues of India's fast-bowling riches and Wednesday offered another example as to why they are so gun, so lethal, even when the game is seemingly slipping away.

Not isolating after positive test 'error in judgment': Djokovic

AGENCIES @ Melbourne

NOVAK Djokovic on Wednesday admitted "errors" in his travel papers and for not isolating after a claimed coronavirus infection, as he battled to stay in Australia.

He said his team had offered fresh information to the Australian government, which is pondering whether to cancel his visa, again, and throw him out of the country. "We are living in challenging times in a global pandemic and sometimes these mistakes can occur," the unvaccinated 34-year-old said in a statement released as he practised on the courts of the Australian Open, which starts Monday.

Now, Immigration Minister Alex Hawke says he is considering cancelling the visa another time, as fresh doubts emerge. In an update to Australian media, his spokesman acknowledged receiving "lengthy further submissions" from the player's lawyers. "Naturally, this will affect the timeframe for a decision," he said.

Djokovic, a nine-time Australian Open champion, described reports about his post-infection outings in Serbia as "misinformation".

On the day of his claimed positive test in Serbia, he appeared at a ceremony to honour him with stamps bearing his image. The following day he attended a youth tennis event.

Djokovic, who made no mention of the stamp ceremony, said he only received the PCR test result after attending the children's tennis event.

But, he admitted that he also went ahead with an interview and photoshoot with French sports newspaper L'Equipe on December 18.

"On reflection, this was an error of judgement and I accept that I should have rescheduled this commitment."

The player said he also had two rapid antigen tests, which both returned negative results: one on December 16 when he first suspected being infected and one on December 17 before attending the children's tennis event.

The tennis ace also admitted a mistake on his Australian travel declaration, in which a box was ticked indicating that he had not, or would not, travel in the 14 days before taking his flight to Melbourne.

Saina advances, to face Malvika in Round two

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

SEVEN winters ago, Saina Nehwal was operating at an elite level. Having won the Syed Modi International and having also reached the All England Open final, she had entered the India Open as one of the favourites. And she had managed to live up to her billing, displaying some top-level badminton then. More importantly, she had claimed the World No 1 status in the process.

That seems a distant past now. Currently ranked World No 25, those golden days have evaded her for the last few years or so, mainly thanks to her recurring injuries. Having last played in October, she entered the India Open in a bid to find her feet and regain some vital match practice ahead of a big season. Saina's aura of the past might be missing but her hunger remains intact. On Wednesday, Saina got just the start that she needed, overcoming Czech Republic's Tereza Svabikova, who retired at the start of the second game when Saina was leading 22-20, 1-0. Saina will face Malvika Bansod next.

Blasters reclaim top spot

MARTIN JOSEPH @ Kochi

PRIOR to the match, Kerala Blasters head coach Ivan Vukomanovic had expressed serious concerns about the Covid situation inside the bio-bubble of the Indian Super League.

Less than 24 hours before their match against Odisha FC on Wednesday, it was reported that one of the Odisha players tested positive.

However, there was no postponement though as the match went ahead as scheduled, and it was business as usual for Blasters as they secured a clinical 2-0 win. Nishu Kumar (28) and Harmanjot Khabra (40) got on the scoresheet as they reclaimed the top spot on the table and stretch their unbeaten run to ten in the process. Kamaljith Singh, Odisha's first-choice keeper, was the Covid casualty. As for Blasters, while they were missing injured captain Jessel Carneiro, Nishu slotted into the squad while Adrian Luna wore the captain's armband.

Super Series back in focus with PCB's new proposal

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

AFTER nearly two years, the talks of the Super Series is back doing the rounds. "Hello fans. Will propose to the ICC a Four Nations T20I Super Series involving Pak, Ind, Aus, Eng, to be played every year, to be hosted on rotation basis by these four. A separate revenue model with profits to be shared on percentage basis with all ICC members, think we have a winner," tweeted Ramiz Raja, chairman of Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) late Tuesday.

It is easy to brush aside Raja's proposal as far fetched because the bilateral relationship between the BCCI and the PCB is non-existent, with the two nations having not featured in a Test series for 14 years. And going by the Future Tours Programme, they will not play a Test or a bilateral series till 2023. In this context, Raja's proposal looks like a plan that will not go beyond the initial stages.

But, remember there is no smoke without fire. In fact, Super Series as a concept was first proposed by the BCCI with India, England, Australia and a fourth team playing a quadrangular series annually, with each of the three boards playing host. While the plan was even discussed with the International Cricket Council, the onset of pandemic meant it never moved forward.

However, over the last three months there have been signs of the Big Three trying to revive the plan and it is understood that there have been discussions with the other boards. According to an official privy to the developments, while at no stage have they included Pakistan or any other cricket board, the BCCI, ECB and CA are open to the idea of including the fourth team which could vary every year. For example, when ECB hosts the event, it will get a chance to invite the fourth team, which in case IT can be Pakistan as there is a huge Asian settlement. "It all depends on the host. Given the bilateral relations between India and Pakistan, it may not be possible to play them in India. So, the BCCI can invite South Africa or West Indies as fourth team. Australia can invite New Zealand given the traditional rivalry and England can bring Pakistan on board," an official in the know told this newspaper.

The Biden administration is increasing federal support for Covid-19 testing for schools. The administration is making a dedicated stream of 5 million rapid tests and 5 million lab-based PCR tests available to schools

Russian President Vladimir Putin said Wednesday that Russia is facing a new surge of coronavirus infections because of the highly contagious omicron variant. "It's obvious that we are in a very difficult situation today."

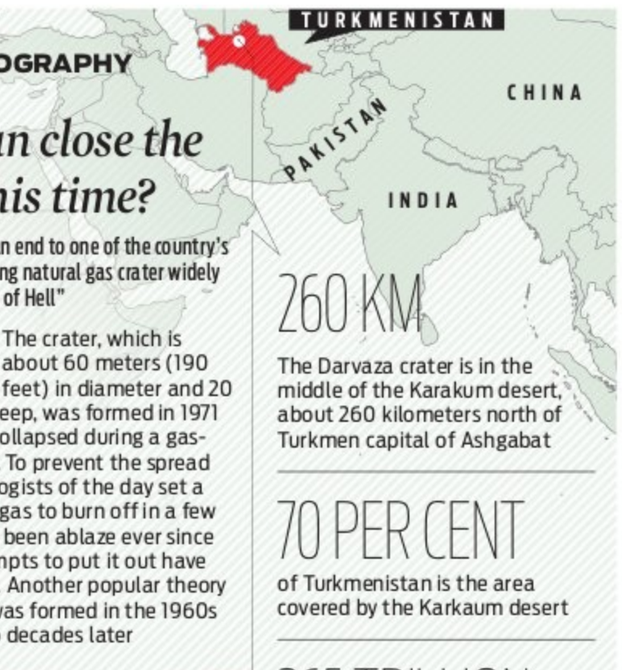
Can Turkmenistan close the Gates of Hell this time?

The president of Turkmenistan is calling for an end to one of the country's most notable but infernal sights — the blazing natural gas crater widely referred to as the "Gates of Hell"

President Gurbanguly Berdy -mukhamedov has ordered his government to look for ways to put the fire out because it is causing ecological damage and affecting the health of people living in the area. Also, the burning pit draws large amounts of natural gas, which not only leads to wastage but also hinders the development of nearby gas fields

1971 The crater, which is about 60 meters (190 feet) in diameter and 20 metres (70 feet) deep, was formed in 1971 when the ground collapsed during a gas-drilling expedition. To prevent the spread of gas, Soviet geologists of the day set a fire, expecting the gas to burn off in a few weeks. The pit has been ablaze ever since and previous attempts to put it out have been unsuccessful. Another popular theory is that the crater was formed in the 1960s and set on fire two decades later

Canadian-born explorer George Kourounis is the first person to descend into the center of the crater



260 KM The Darvaza crater is in the middle of the Karakum desert, about 260 kilometers north of Turkmen capital of Ashgabat

70 PER CENT of Turkmenistan is the area covered by the Karkaum desert

265 TRILLION CUBIC FEET is the size of Turkmenistan's gas reserve, which is the sixth-largest in the world

IN 2010 President Berdymukhamedov asked experts to find a way to put off the fire, saying it endangered other drilling projects in the area. but to no avail. According to geologists, extinguishing the fire would be a colossal feat as large amounts of natural gas continue to seep into the pit. Previous efforts to put out the fire have all been unsuccessful

Omicron to hit peak in US, UK

The wildly contagious variant may already be running out of people to infect, researchers say

COVID

WASHINGTON/LONDON: Scientists are seeing signals that Covid-19's alarming omicron wave may have peaked in Britain and is about to do the same in the US, at which point cases may start dropping off dramatically.

The reason: The variant has proved so wildly contagious that it may already be running out of people to infect, just a month and a half after it was first detected in South Africa.

"It's going to come down as fast as it went up," said Ali Mokdad, a professor of health metrics sciences at the University of Washington in Seattle.

At the same time, experts warn that much is still uncertain about how the next phase of the pandemic might unfold. The plateauing or ebbing in the two countries is not happening everywhere at the same time or at the same pace. And weeks or months of misery still lie ahead for patients and overwhelmed hospitals even if the drop-off comes to pass.

"There are still a lot of people who will get infected as we descend the slope on the backside," said Lauren Ancel Meyers, director of the University of Texas Covid-19 Modeling Consortium, which predicts that reported cases will peak within the week.

On Tuesday, Janet Woodcock, the acting head of the Food and Drug Administration, told Congress that the highly transmissible strain will infect "most people" and that the focus should turn to ensuring critical services can continue uninterrupted.

"I think it's hard to process what's actually happening right now, which is: Most people are going to get Covid, all right?," she said. "What we need to do is make sure the hospitals can still function — transportation, other essential services are not disrupted while this happens."

The University of Washington's own highly influential model projects that the number of daily reported cases in the US will crest at 1.2 million by January 19 and will then fall sharply "simply because everybody who could be infected will be infected," according to Mokdad. In fact, he said, by the university's complex calculations, the true number of new daily infections in the US — an estimate that includes people who were never tested — has already peaked, hitting 6 million on January 6.

> We are seeing a definite falling-off of cases in the UK, but I'd like to see them fall much further before we know if what happened in South Africa will happen here
>
> Dr Paul Hunter, a professor of medicine at Britain's University of East Anglia

In Britain, meanwhile, new Covid-19 cases dropped to about 1,40,000 a day in the last week, after skyrocketing to more than 2,00,000 a day earlier this month, according to government data.

Numbers from the UK's National Health Service this week show coronavirus hospital admissions for adults have begun to fall, with infections dropping in all age groups.

Kevin McConway, a retired professor of applied statistics at Britain's Open University, said that while Covid-19 cases are still rising in places such as southwest England and the West Midlands, the outbreak may have peaked in London.

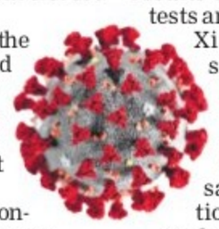
The figures have raised hopes that the two countries are about to undergo something similar to what happened in South Africa, where in the span of about a month the wave crested at record highs and then fell significantly.

The beginning of pandemic's end?

COVID

GENEVA: Omicron could be the beginning of the end of the pandemic, the Swiss government said on Wednesday as it slashed quarantine times and prolonged restrictions to control the Covid-19 variant.

"We are perhaps on the eve of a turning point which could be decisive in passing from a pandemic to an endemic phase," with high levels of immunity in the population, Health Minister Alain Berset said.



"Omicron could be the beginning of the end of this pandemic." Switzerland is facing its fifth wave, though hospitals are not yet overwhelmed.

"Omicron is very contagious, less dangerous, but that is no reason to let our guard down. Nor is it a reason to become alarmist," said Berset. The government decided to cut isolation times for people with Covid from 10 days to five, as long as the individual concerned has been symptom-free for 48 hours.

CHINESE CITY ORDERS SECOND ROUND TESTING ON 14 MILLION

COVID

BEIJING: The northern Chinese city of Tianjin ordered a second round of Covid-19 testing of all 14 million residents on Wednesday following the discovery of 97 cases of the omicron variant during initial screenings that began on Sunday.

Residents were asked to remain where they are until the results of all the nucleic acid tests are received, the official Xinhua News Agency said.

Xinhua said authorities have carried out almost 12 million tests so far, with 7.8 million samples returned. Infections were first reported on Saturday in the city that is only about an hour from Beijing, which is to host the Winter Olympics from Feb. 4.

High-speed rail service and other forms of transportation between the cities have been suspended, leading to some disruptions in supply chains, including for packaged food items sold in convenience stores.

Tianjin's Covid-19 prevention and control office said all who have tested positive in the initial testing round were found to have the omicron variant, of which China has so far only reported a small number of cases. The source of the outbreak is still unknown and many who are spreading the variant may be doing so unwittingly because they show no symptoms. Also in the north, two college students who traveled earlier this month by train from Tianjin tested positive for the virus Wednesday in the city of Dalian, city officials said. There was no word on what variant they had contracted.

Millions more Chinese are under lockdown in cities under the strict "dynamic zero-case policy" that has allowed China to largely contain major outbreaks, although at considerable cost to local economies.

Hong Kong has closed kindergartens and primary schools after infections were discovered among students, banned flights from the US and seven other countries and held 2,500 passengers on a cruise ship for testing on Wednesday.

Fact-checkers call on YouTube to act against disinformation

TECH

LONDON: More than 80 fact-checking organisations on Wednesday urged online video platform YouTube to better combat disinformation, offering to help debunk false statements.

"Every day, we see that YouTube is one of the major conduits of online disinformation and misinformation worldwide," said the groups spanning the globe, from Politifact and the Washington Post in the United States to the Africa Check. Videos containing false information had gone "under the radar of YouTube's policies, especially in non-English speaking countries", they said in an open letter.

"We urge you to take effective action against disinformation and misinformation... and to do so with the world's independent, non-partisan fact-checking organisations," they added.

It also urged the platform to make sure its recommendation algorithm did not actively promote disinformation to its users.

Judge rejects Meta's bid to derail US antitrust suit

TECH

COPENHAGEN: A US federal judge on Tuesday ruled that US regulators' re-worked antitrust case against Meta can go ahead, saying the complaint was more robust and detailed than the version denied last year.

The US Federal Trade Commission has alleged the social media giant, which has renamed itself Meta, holds an illegal monopoly by acquiring potential competitors that it now owns like Instagram and WhatsApp.

Judge James Boasberg's ruling is a blow to Facebook, which faced renewed scrutiny last year after a whistleblower leaked documents showing executives knew the harm their services could cause to teens, democracy and users' well-being.

The FTC "may well face a tall task down the road in proving its allegations," but the case will not be dismissed, ruled Boasberg, who last year tossed out the original suit.

His ruling Tuesday denied a push by Facebook, which did not reply to a request seeking comment, to also dismiss the re-worked complaint.

"The Commission continues to allege that Facebook has long had a monopoly in the market... and that it has unlawfully maintained that monopoly," Boasberg wrote.

"The facts alleged this time around to fortify those theories, however, are far more robust and detailed than before," he added.

The judge also rejected Facebook's argument that the case should be dismissed because the commission's decision to amend and refile was fueled by a bias against the company by FTC chairwoman Lina Khan.

That contention missed the mark, the judge reasoned, because Khan is a prosecutor, not a judge bound to neutrality.

"Ultimately, whether the FTC will be able to prove its case and prevail at summary judgment and trial is anyone's guess," the judge said in the ruling.

In the amended complaint, the FTC said Facebook's dominance "is protected by high barriers to entry," and that "even an entrant with a superior product cannot succeed against the overwhelming network effects enjoyed by an incumbent personal social network."

FACT OF THE MATTER

Goldfish may be able to drive

RESEARCH

Goldfish may have short memories but, according to an Israeli university study, they might be able to drive. Researchers at Ben-Gurion University of the Negev found a goldfish's innate navigational abilities allowed it to steer a robotic vehicle towards a terrestrial target if given a food reward. The team placed a fish tank on a set of motorised wheels. A camera system then recorded the fish's movements and translated it into navigational directions — effectively moving the contraption in the direction where the fish bumped up against the glass. The fish can be seen "driving" the vehicle toward a visual target, a colourful mark on the wall of the experiment room, visible through the clear sides of the tank.

Wearable tech's dark side

TECH

Startups at the annual gadget extravaganza in Las Vegas touted technology-enhanced accessories designed to look fetching on the outside while scrutinizing what is happening on the inside of wearers. While that goal was shared by an array of exhibitors, some experts worried a trend of ceaselessly tracking steps, time sitting, heart rate and more could bring risks of stress and addiction. Society needs to determine whether these kinds of tools solve problems or "give rise to new dependencies," contended German political scientist Nils-Eyk Zimmermann. A danger is that the "digital self" generated by such technology does not match reality, reasoned Zimmermann, who blogs on the topic.

LOST AND FOUND IN 80 YEARS

Butterfly species thought to be extinct found in Madhya Pradesh

The blue-winged butterflies were spotted in two places; (inset) Shraddha Khapre and Dr Arjun Shukla | SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT

RESEARCH

BHOPAL: TWO entomologists in Madhya Pradesh have spotted Xerces blue species of butterfly (Glaucopsyche xerces) which reportedly went extinct about 80 years ago in 1941.

Shraddha Khapre and Dr Arjun Shukla of the Government MH College of Home Science & Science for Women, spotted a Xerces blue butterfly near Bargi Dam on October 19, and again, in the Deotal hillock in Jabalpur on December 16.

The two spots are around 35 km apart.

"The butterflies found at both places were collected safely and then preserved. Their specimens were subsequently compared with the pictures of the butterfly specimens preserved at the Florida Museum of Natural History," Dr Shukla told The New Indian Express.

"The butterflies collected by us were compared with specimens housed in Florida Museum in terms of the pattern of wings, colour, shape, antenna and their segment, size and other taxonomic key patterns. Meticulous comparison led to our specimens matching with that of the Xerces Blue butterfly in the Florida Museum on all critical parameters," Shraddha and Dr Shukla added.

Before they went extinct, Xerces Blue was spotted last in the dunes of the Sunset District of San Francisco.

There's no previous record of the species being found in India. The two researchers said the discovery will add to India's 1500-plus list of butterfly species. The Xerces blue is believed to be the first American butterfly species to become extinct due to loss of habitat due to urbanisation. ENS

HARVESTING GOOD VIBES

Pongal, Sankranti or Lohri...celebs in the city are sticking to homebound celebrations owing to the pandemic

Megha Shetty

MONIKA MONALISA

IT'S the first festival of the year but Sankranti will be only a small affair thanks to the raging third wave. This harvest festival is incomplete without ellu-bella which is made of five ingredients – sesame seeds, jaggery, dried coconut pieces, roasted peanuts and fried gram dal. Celebs in the city are celebrating the festival with these age-old rituals this Friday and Saturday.

Radhika Narayan has a particular 'Sankranti itinerary' which she is going to follow this year as well. "My mother prepares both sweet and spicy pongal, while my dad does a regular pooja at home. Then we have our friends coming over with whom we share ellu bella," says Narayan. While everyone has their favourite ingredient in the trail mix, Narayan's pick is the dried coconut. "While I mostly go for the dried coconut, my mother has warned me to not finish the whole mix," says Narayan, adding that she avoids sugar candies because of health reasons.

But Sonu Gowda believes it's a festival and nibbles at the 'sakkre achuchu' through the day. "I usually celebrate all festivals with my family. I remember we used to gorge on the sugar candies and ellu-bella and skip the pongal. So my mother had to make sure to keep the boxes away from us so that we had some to share with guests," says Gowda.

Actor Megha Shetty, who is currently shooting for her popular telesoap opera, Jothe Jotheyali, is going to have a busy Sankranti. "Since I will be working this Sankranti, I am going to spend time with my team which is my second family. Of course, the pongal and ellu bella are staples without which the festival is incomplete. I will have them on the set," says Shetty, who is playing the character Anu Sirimane.

Though it's a festive mood in most households, the celebration is low-key thanks to the third wave of Covid. Actor Milana Nagaraj had big plans of celebrating Sankranti by visiting her mother's house in Mangaluru, but has dropped the idea because of the increase in the number of Covid cases. "We usually meet people and distribute ellu-bella. And this time, I was supposed to do it with my mother but travel is not the safest thing at this point of time, so we've dropped the idea. We are keeping it low-key by just praying that we get back to normal soon," says Nagaraj, adding that she is at least thankful to be celebrating the festival with her husband.

Ahead of Sankranti, the Namma Bengaluru Kite Club, a professional group, wants to promote kite flying

HIGH FLYING

SANATH PRASAD

IT was in June 2021 that Ausaf Anwar, an IT professional, saw a bunch of people taking to kite flying in their terraces during the Covid-19 restrictions due to the second wave. As an ardent kite flier, Anwar wanted to popularise this in the city. This gave rise to a Facebook group called Namma Bengaluru Kite Club. This grabbed the attention of other like-minded kite fliers, including Pratik Kundu, an English professor and vlogger, Rakesh Saha, a techie among others who soon went on to join Anwar. Within a few months, Namma Bengaluru Kite Club became a competitive kite-flying club and is now going on to participate in the Faizabad All India Kite Tournament 2022 that is scheduled in March.

In time for Sankranti on January 14, the club will be organising their first tournament where five members of the team will be flying kites in an open ground near Electronics City for eight hours. "We are professional kite fliers and want to promote the dying sport in the south. The club was also a result of the boredom that hit people during the second wave lockdown where we witnessed youngsters flying kites all on their own in terraces," says Anwar, who has bought over 2,000 kites from Rajasthan and Uttar Pradesh. The team has also participated in three kite flying competitions in Mumbai last year. They are all gearing up to represent Bengaluru in the inter-city matches against New Delhi and Kolkata around April 2022.

We are professional kite fliers and want to promote the dying sport in the south. The club is also a result of people flying kites alone during the lockdown

Ausaf Anwar, IT professional

The club is strictly against the use of nylon Chinese manja threads and uses the cotton threads which are equally strong and safe during competitions. The members of the club practice kite flying once a week for over six hours. Kundu explains that the club wanted to address the issue of mental health of people during the pandemic by encouraging them to take up kite flying. Kundu, on the other hand, also uploads videos explaining kite fliers on the rules of engaging in a kite-flying competition and the types of kites that need to be used. "Although kite flying has a major cultural significance, it also adds to the overall fitness of the body. Moreover, we source the kites from Rae Bareli in Uttar Pradesh where over 400 families are into the kite making business. My vlog is usually centered around kite flying where I want to drive home the importance of this national sport that is fading, especially in south India," says Kundu.

FIT BIT

HASTA NAGINYASANA IN NANTUM NATARAJASANA

(STANDING ONE LEGGED BALANCE, BACK BEND, FORWARD BEND)

Hasta Naginyasana involves deep back bending and front hip opening. Although it is challenging, it's fairly accessible. The potentially 'therapeutic' qualities of this pose are the position of hip extension (the antidote to sitting in a chair), and the gentle pulling action of the arm, which is a small step to help balance the high ratio of pushing actions in asana. It focusses on preparing the back leg and spine.

STEPS

- Start by standing in Tadasana (Mountain Pose) and engage Mula Bandha, Uddhiyana Bandha, and Ujjayi breathing.
- Inhale and bring your weight onto the right foot. Exhale as you bend your left knee, grab onto the left foot with your left hand, and bring your left heel to your left sitting bone.
- Keep your standing leg strong and straight by pulling the knee cap up and engaging the front thigh muscles (quadriceps). Keep your knees together.
- Exhale, start pushing your left foot back and up to the sky, while tipping your torso forward.
- Again, exhale as you bring the left foot to the left elbow crease and bend your left arm to keep the foot in place.
- Inhale as you reach your right arm out in front of you. Now exhale, bend the right elbow, and grab onto the left hand with your right hand. This is the arm position of Hasta Naginyasana.
- To deepen the shoulder stretch, on the next exhale start walking your right hand down your right forearm. Grab onto the right elbow first and then to your right triceps.
- Hold the pose for at least 30 seconds, up to 90 seconds in order to receive the full benefits of the stretch.
- Exhale as you release the pose, come back to Tadasana, and repeat on the left side.

BENEFITS

- Stretches the sides of the body, hamstrings and inner thighs.
- Tones the reproductive organs and increases blood circulation in the pelvic region and legs.
- Helps maintain flexibility in the lower body.
- Leg muscles become very strong.
- Helps to improve digestion.
- Reduces menopausal and menstrual disorders.
- A good stretch on the calves and hamstrings.

LIMITATIONS

- If you have sciatica, hip and hernia problems, avoid this.
- To prevent strained muscles and torn ligaments, avoid this.
- Do this pose only on an empty stomach.
- Be careful, if you have any balance issues in hip, ankle or shoulder injuries.

LIVER HEALTH FORMULA

In recent times, there's a rise in liver diseases among women in India. Here's why

DR MALLIKARJUN SAKPAL

THERE are more than 100 different liver diseases affecting both men and women of all ages. But some of them are very commonly seen amongst women and are widely undiagnosed. In recent years, India has witnessed a rise in liver disease amongst women owing to factors like increase in alcohol intake, underlying liver and autoimmune diseases — as well as specific medicine or drug-related issues. Some of the most commonly seen liver diseases are alcoholic liver disease, autoimmune hepatitis, viral hepatitis, non-alcoholic fatty liver disease (NAFLD), pregnancy-related liver disease, primary biliary cholangitis (PBC), benign liver tumors and cirrhosis.

The liver carries out more than 500 vital functions in our body which include production of bile, blood plasma, conversion of excess glucose, clearing the blood of drugs and other poisonous substances, regulating blood clotting and blood levels of amino acids, etc. Any anomalies or disturbances in the function can cause damage to the liver which can lead to liver damage or failure. Chronic fatigue, loss of appetite, weight loss, nausea, vomiting, jaundice, abdominal pain and swelling, itchy skin, dark urine colour, swelling in the ankles and legs and easy bruising are some of the symptoms indicating that you are more likely to have liver disease. Often liver disease during its initial stage shows no specific symptom however when the disease progresses and symptoms start showing.

Menopause and liver issues

Liver diseases are common in both men and women but certain liver diseases affect only women. Women when compared to men have less body water, stomach enzymes, much more likely to have toxicity from drugs. Lack of estrogen can have a negative effect on the liver. Thus, women after menopause are more likely to develop a fatty liver. Fatty liver in women can progress into cirrhosis more rapidly when compared to men. Women are also at the risk of gaining more weight after menopause because of hormonal changes. This can be life-threatening as fat can be accumulated in the liver cells which can lead to fibrosis, then cirrhosis and eventually cancer. According to research data by NCBI, women are 10 times more likely to have primary biliary cirrhosis (PBC) than men and four times as likely to have autoimmune hepatitis.

Certain liver diseases are commonly observed in women like pregnancy-related liver diseases such as ovarian hyperstimulation syndrome (OHSS), hyperemesis gravidarum (HG), Intrahepatic Cholestasis of Pregnancy (ICP), acute fatty liver of pregnancy (AFLP), HELLP syndrome. This may be attributed to the biological reasons.

Alcohol-related liver disease on the rise

Drugs and alcohol affect the liver earlier and more rapidly than men, and at a lower dose. Alcoholic hepatitis, an inflammation of the liver caused by drinking alcohol can develop in the course of weeks and months while some alcohol-related liver diseases like cirrhosis take years to develop. During the pandemic, there has been a sharp increase in the frequency of binge drinking episodes amongst women.

HOW TO MAINTAIN A HEALTHY LIVER

Regular exercise helps you combat the weight gain that's associated with menopause

Eat a healthy diet. Avoid saturated fats

Avoid alcohol

Avoid overuse of non-prescription drugs. Illegal drugs and non-prescribed herbal supplements which are not usually regulated, so you don't know what's in them, or their real benefits

Regular checkups for the liver is important

5 warning signs you mustn't ignore

Cervical cancer can be a silent killer among women, says experts

DR SANDEEP NAYAK P

CERVICAL cancer is known as the silent killer among women crucially as it does not manifest any symptoms until it has gone to an advanced stage, and it progresses slowly, giving one plenty of time to seek therapy and prevent the disease from worsening. Young and healthy women often disregard the need for frequent screenings. Getting a diagnosis of abnormal cell growth for several common forms of malignancies should be a top priority for everyone, regardless of age or family history. Here are some of the most prevalent indicators of cervical cancer that one should be aware of:

Bleeding after intercourse

Spotting, bleeding or blood stained fluid is the most important sign of cervical cancer. This can also occur for a variety of reasons like skin irritation, vaginal overstretching, STDs, vaginal dryness, and cervical cancer. The formation of malignant cells in the cervix is often linked to pain during intercourse. There's no need for concern if one occasionally experiences pain or discomfort, however, bleeding needs to be evaluated.

Abnormal Vaginal Bleeding

The most common sign is abnormal vaginal bleeding. This is a definite warning sign if bleeding occurs in a menopausal lady. A woman's menstrual cycle may become irregular if malignant cells expand to the uterus's surrounding tissue. Other reproductive system issues, such as PCOS and hormone imbalance, can lead to abnormal bleeding, fatigue, bleeding, and should not be overlooked.

Abnormal Vaginal Discharge

Depending on the type of discharge one has, it can be normal. Cervical cancer patients' discharge is typically foul-smelling and pink, brown, or crimson in colour, containing fragments of the malignant cell's tissues at times. Examine your vaginal discharge and see your doctor if you observe any of these symptoms.

Pelvic Pain

Lower back discomfort affects women on a regular basis, especially during the monthly menstrual cycle. In the case of cervical cancer, however, lower back or pelvic pain is common. If cancer has advanced and has spread to other parts of the body, it may result in constant pelvic pain.

Unexplained weight loss

Cervical cancer, like other malignancies, causes loss of appetite and unexplained weight loss. There is no reason for weight loss if not on a diet or weight-loss plan and must be considered as a warning sign. Any type of abdominal distention or swelling, indigestion, bowel changes, weight loss, or loss of appetite can all be signs of cancer.

Importance of a pap test

A pap smear, often known as a pap test, is a screening treatment for women that collects cells from the cervix. A pap smear helps in the early detection of cervical cancer, increasing the odds of curing it, while also detecting alterations in one's cervical cells indicative of future cancer development.

(The writer is director - department of surgical oncology & robotic & laparoscopic surgery, Fortis Hospitals, Bannerghatta Road)

HOW OFTEN SHOULD A PAP SMEAR BE REPEATED?

The first step in preventing cervical cancer is to detect abnormal cells early using a pap test. Doctors recommend repeating pap tests every one to three years for women between the ages of 21 and 65. If paired with HPV testing, women over the age of 30 should consider it every five years. HPV is exceedingly common, with eight out of ten women contracting the virus at some point in their lives. Since there are no signs, therefore women should take precautions ahead of time. Normal test findings lead to very low probability of acquiring cancer in the next three years. However, precancerous cells may form during this time, necessitating repeated screening. Also it is important to remember that HPV vaccine can reduce the risk of cervical cancer, however, cannot eliminate it completely. So, pap test is needed even if one is vaccinated.

Air sampler rates personal exposure to Covid virus

Masks, social distancing, proper hygiene and ventilation can help reduce the transmission of Covid-19 in public places, but even with these measures, scientists have detected airborne SARS-CoV-2 in indoor settings. Now, researchers from Yale University have developed a passive air sampler clip that can help assess personal exposure to SARS-CoV-2, which could be especially helpful for workers in high-risk settings, such as restaurants or health care facilities. —IANS

Prolonged exposure to air pollution may spike Covid risk

Long-term exposure to ambient air pollution may heighten the risk of Covid-19 infection, suggests a research. The study, published online in the journal Occupational and Environmental Medicine, showed that both Particulate matter (PM) 2.5 and 10 were significantly associated with an increased Covid-19 infection rate. Every 1 microgram/cubic metre increase in long-term exposure to PM2.5 was associated with a 5 per cent increase in the number of new cases of infection, equivalent to 294 extra cases per 100,000 of the population/year. —IANS

HANDLING UTI IN CHILDREN

Bedwetting, rashes, fever...Here are signs that your child is suffering from a urinary tract infection

DR SHALINI CHICO

URINARY Tract Infection (UTI) is a common bacterial infection in children and infants. The risk of having a UTI before the age of 14 is almost 3 per cent in boys and 8-10 per cent in girls. Symptoms can be non-specific, especially in infants and toddlers, resulting in inadequate detection and improper treatment. An inadequately/untreated UTI in a younger child can sometimes lead to disastrous effects with scarring of the kidney causing chronic hypertension and kidney disease.

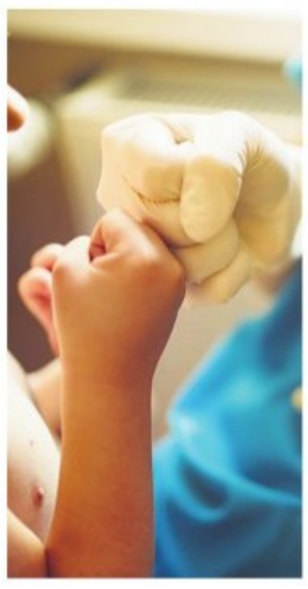
Children can get UTI when the bacteria from the stools or skin surrounding the urethra enters the urinary tract. It can cause infection which can be localised to the urethra and bladder (the lowermost part of the urinary tract), or in some cases, t he infection can ascend all the way up the tract to involve the kidneys, especially in children with a condition called vesicoureteral reflux (VUR).

With timely detection and treatment with appropriate antibiotics, the complications are minimised. In infants with UTI and children with recurrent infections, your doctor may suggest ultrasound scans and special tests to check on the condition of the kidneys and to rule out VUR.

The typical symptoms of UTI like burning while passing urine, or increased frequency of passing urine/dribbling, lower back pain, abdominal pain. Here are a few red flags which if noticed, should be brought to the notice of your child's paediatrician.

1.Inability to gain weight: This is a common sign in infants and toddlers which needs to be evaluated. In an otherwise healthy child with no signs of deficiency, a poor weight gain which may or may not be associated with loss of appetite needs to be evaluated. It has been seen that UTI if picked up and treated at this stage, results in good weight gain in the months following treatment.

2. Loose stools, vomiting: This need not always be a symptom of a 'stomach bug'. Sometimes loose stools, especially if associated with fever and vomiting needs to be evaluated, if no other cause can be identified.



3. Fever: High-grade fever, lasting for more than 48 hours, especially associated with chills, will have to be evaluated. Do report to your paediatrician.

4. Bedwetting: For an older child who is toilet trained, a sudden step back to nocturnal bedwetting can be a red flag .

5.Rash: A rash in the genital area which may or may not be associated with fever or with any of the above symptoms should be always investigated, especially with foul smelling or cloudy-looking urine.

Minimising risk of UTI: Maintaining hygienic practices can minimise the risk of infection like frequent changing of diapers / nappies in infants, washing from front to back to ensure that stool does not enter the urinary tract. This practice is exceptionally important in girl children. In older school going children, ensure the child stays well-hydrated, and empties the bladder at regular intervals. 'Holding in of urine' due to reluctance to use the toilets at schools or while travel, and constipation can both predispose to UTIs.

In some instances, your doctor may advise a catheterised sample to get an accurate report. Based on the culture, antibiotics are given anywhere between 7-14 days based on the clinical condition and severity of infection.

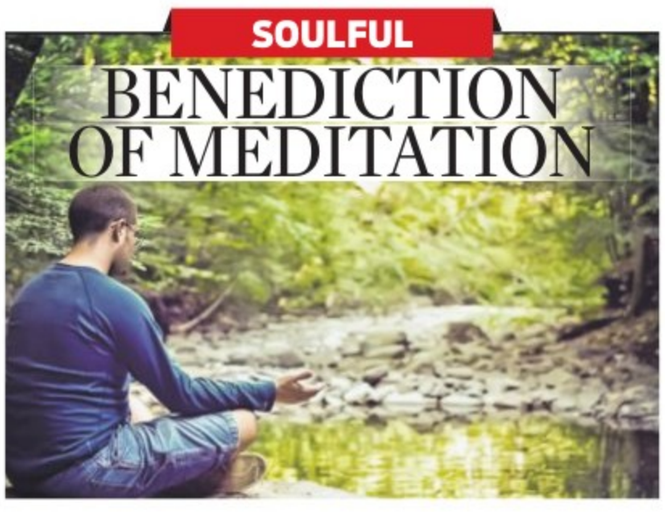
SOULFUL

BENEDICTION OF MEDITATION



IN meditation there is involved many things. First, the whole concept of concentration. I hope you are interested in this, if you are not, tant pis, I can't help it. Because it is one of the most essential things. If a mind doesn't know how to meditate, if you do not know how to live - and you consider living is just going to the office, having a car, leading a superficial life, spending an evening drinking cocktails, or going to a cinema, or being entertained — if that is all life then your life is very shallow, empty, dull. And unfortunately modern civilisation, specially in this country, is becoming even more standardised, superficial. You may have all the things of the world — good health, good bathrooms, good food, good cars, but without an inward life, not the second-hand inward life of another, but the inward life of your own which you have discovered, which you have cherished, which you are living, which is meditation. Without that we will not only have wars, more wars, more destruction and more misery. So meditation, whether you like it or not, is important for every human being, whether he is highly sophisticated or a simple person by the wayside. So I hope we can together, this afternoon, enter, take this journey together.

Meditation involves concentration. And concentration, as one observes, is a way of exclusion. That is, concentration implies forcing thought in one particular directed direction, excluding all else. That is generally what is meant by concentration. To concentrate upon, to direct, to focus your mind. And in doing that you exclude, you put a barrier, build a wall so that no other element, thought, influence enters. And in doing that there is a dualistic process at work, a division, a contradiction, which is fairly obvious, into which we need not go, because our time is very limited and we have to deal, in this hour, a great deal. So meditation is something other than concentration, though concentration is necessary, meditation involves much more than concentration, or control of thought. And it involves attention, not concentration: to attend. That means to give your mind, your heart, your body passionately to attend to something. In that attention, if you observe very carefully, there is neither the thinker nor the thought, neither the observer nor the observed, but only a state of attention. And to attend so completely, so fully, there must be freedom.

So here begins the whole problem: that is, to attend completely both intellectually, emotionally, with your eyes, with all the response, awakened response, and being aware of those responses, from which comes freedom. It is only a mind that is completely free that can attend. And that is not so difficult, don't give it an extraordinary meaning, it is very simple. If you listen to something attentively, whether it is to music, or when the coyotes of an evening call to each other, with that weird cry, or when you listen to a bird, or when you listen to the voice of your wife or husband, to give attention to it. And you do when the challenge is very great, immediate. Then you listen most extraordinarily. You listen when it is profitable, when it is painful, when you are going to get something out of it, but when there is a reward in that listening there is always the fear of losing.

RAJ B SHETTY: THE SUCCESS OF GGVV IS LIKE A VISITING CARD FOR US

The director-actor speaks about the hit gangster drama, which will be out on Zee 5 from today

A SHARADHAA

RAJ B Shetty's directorial Garuda Gamana Vrishabha Vahana turned out to be a blockbuster hit in theatres, and now, it is set to be released on Zee 5 on January 13. Raj is hoping that the ott release receives a similar response as the theatrical release of the film. "The success of Garuda Gamana Vrishabha Vahana in theatres is more like our visiting card for the next two years. Even though it was released only in Kannada, it managed to reach out to a wider audience. The OTT release will only add more strength to us," says Raj.

He adds, "As an industry, Kannada cinema, in general, is not dictating terms when it comes to streaming platforms. However, if a film like GGVV does well on OTT, it might help us to get what we deserve in the coming days."

"GGVV was among many top ten lists of 2021. People of different tongues were also aware of the film, but they didn't have access to it. So, the OTT release will have a good reach. Releasing our films on a popular streaming channel also becomes necessary because this will bring down the monopoly of certain digital platforms, which usually come with a lot of conditions while negotiating. Certain popular streaming platforms are not even interested in watching the content before the release because of the language. I hope it changes," he says.

When asked about the reports of the Tamil remake rights of GGVV being sold to director, Gautham Vasudev Menon, Raj says, "I would want to wait for an official announcement before I comment on it."

Talking about his future projects, Raj says that he still has some unfinished business with GGVV. He says, "Since I had taken the productional responsibilities, there is a lot of pending work which needs to be finished before I take up my next project."

Presented by Rakshit Shetty's Paramvah Studios and distributed by KRG Studios, GGVV also stars Raj himself, Rishab Shetty, and Gopalkrishna Deshpande. While the film's music is by Midhun Mukundhan, Praveen Shriyan has handled the cinematography and editing.

THE SUITS OF THE KING'S MAN

CE FEATURES

A suit is the modern gentleman's armor. And, the Kingsman agents are the new knights," Harry Hart (Colin Firth), tells the newly recruited Gary "Eggsy" Unwin in the 2015 spy comedy, Kingsman: The Secret Service. If there's one thing the Kingsman films have taught us, it's that suits are more than just external clothing; they reflect the character's psyche. And Michele Clapton, who designed costumes for the newest film in the franchise, The King's Man understands this well. Sharing why the costumes play a vital role in the prequel, Clapton tells, "They are really important because they set the tone of the movie. Ralph Fiennes's character as Orlando Oxford is very traditional and so it's very period. And Harris Dickinson's character as Conrad Oxford is the slightly more go-ahead, younger aspect of it."

Elaborating on her approach to styling, she adds, "We found all these books when we were researching, which were fabrics from 1910. They were the old tailors' books. I found them halfway through when we'd been buying all this fabric, and it was incredible—the colors and brightness—so actually we felt really confident that it could be that bright and that the suits could be lighter in that way."

Michele Clapton, whose filmography includes acclaimed like Game of Thrones, The Devil's Whore, and The Crown, is no stranger to period settings or the intricacies that are interwoven with such genres. In fact, the period in which the story of a film takes is a crucial factor for her to give a nod to the project. Her reason for her interest in The King's Man is no different. "I was intrigued by this film being period. I prefer designing period films, so I was inquisitive about how that would be. I met Matthew and I liked his ideas of how he was going to treat it. He was taking it quite seriously and wanted it to be quite respectful to the period we're filming in, which is obviously quite tragic, so I think that's what pulled me in," she says

Speaking about how she designed the Conrad Oxford, played by Harris Dickinson, Clapton says "I didn't want him to be a sort of 'Hooray Henry.' It's slightly more modern because he's the young person that younger audiences will relate to. His suits are made by a modern tailor. They have narrow trousers and are high-waisted. The jackets were usually three buttons, cutaway, so you have that lovely length. And Harris is such a great clothes horse. When he walked through the door I thought 'Oh, thank god.' Sometimes a brilliant actor can't be the right shape for the period, and he was. So I said to the stunts, 'Don't make him bulk up! He needs to be slim. Please don't make him too big.' And they didn't, actually, which is great." "I was trying to look at characters from that period, because then you glean more from them,"

Every detail counts. "We looked at lots of catalogues from that time. For instance, the sunglasses that Harris wears on the motorbike, we actually found evidence in the catalogues that they actually had that shape at that time. You wouldn't believe it because they look so modern. But we were searching for things that could elevate his character a bit as well," Clapton concludes.
